Oklahoma Oil Wells Shut Down By Martial Law

Oklahoma Governor Calls Out Militia To Enforce Shut-Down Order

DEMANDS THAT OIL BRING $1 PER BARREL

Old Statute Is Invoked By Governor For Unprecedented Move

(International News Service)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 5.—Striving to raise the price of petroleum to a profitable basis for the producers, Governor William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray today enforced his shut-down order throughout the oil fields by martial law.

Around a large number of the 3,106 listed oil wells producing more than 25 barrels a day, military zones were maintained by state militiamen. Stripper wells were not affected by the action.

Troops In Oil Fields.

Troops moved into the oil fields late yesterday to enforce the shutdown. There was no violence, and the closing of the wells was accomplished in the face of some of the major companies' threats to disregard the governor's order.

Cicero I. Murray, commissioned a lieutenant colonel by his uncle, the governor, was in charge of the guardsmen in the derrick-sprinkled territory.

Governor Murray issued his shutdown mandate under an Oklahoma statute never before invoked which prohibits oil production when the market price is below the "actual value." He asserted he would keep the wells closed until the price of oil has advanced to at least $1 a

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Whenever any perosn finds a queer looking bug these days, he assumes that it must be a Japanese beetle. As far as can be learned none of the beetles have been found yet. They are a small bug, the size of a potato beetle, and the head, upper body, and legs are bright green. The wings are a bronze color. They are to be found mostly on grape vines, but will attack other foliage. In the early part of the morning they will be found close to the ground, gradually ascending the plant later in the day. If there is smartweed about, they may be found on the smartweed early in the morning. The most distinguishing feature of the Japanese beetle, is a row of raised, whitish colored spots, around the abdomen of the insect, where the wings end. There are twelve of these spots, the two at the rear of the abdomen being the largest.

Just a year ago, the city sweltered in the hottest day of the summer, when the mercury reached 100 degrees. Today's readings are almost identical for the sixth of August last year, the only difference being that the minimum a year ago was one degree more.

Pa Newc notes that employes of the gas company are repairing the paving along West Washington St. between Beaver and the bridge. The street had been dug up earlier in the year to make repairs to the line.

The Shenango river is almost down to the lowest point on record, which is around the two-foot mark. It now stands at two feet six inches.

FIND RIFLED ENON VALLEY STORE SAFE AT STRUTHERS

Chiseled open by the bandits who had opened it, the safe belonging to McNeice and McRoberts of Enon Valley, stolen nearly a week ago from the concern's store, was found late Tuesday afternoon in a berry patch near Struthers, O. Three small boys were out picking berries and came across the safe hidden in tall weeds. County Detective H. M. Lee was notified and with Assistant County Detective B. J. Rocks he went to Struthers Tuesday and returned the safe to the owners.

There were no papers in the safe. All the money and checks had been removed and the other valuable papers burned at the spot. Among these was an account book containing approximately $7000 in accounts.

The robbery of the Enon Valley store was the second within a month. A month ago the petty cash was stolen and about one hundred dollars worth of merchandise stolen. This time the safe was stolen and also considerable merchandise.

County Detective Lee is still working on the case and is hopeful of making some arrests.

ABOARD THE DO-X, Aug. 5.—With her twelve engines beating rythmically, the great German seaplane DO-X was skirting the verdant shores of Brazil this morning, soaring in the direction of Caravellas, the first stop on the way to New York.

Plan To Start Work Upon New Navy Zeppelin

Sister Dirigible Of "Akron" To Be Started In Immediate Future

MRS. HERBERT HOOVER TO CHRISTEN "AKRON"

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Aug. 5.—Furnishing continued employment for more than 800 workmen, actual construction of the dirigible ZRS-5, sister ship of the navy airship, Akron, which is to be christened here Saturday, probably will start within the next month or six weeks, it was learned today.

Orders already have been placed for most of the duralumin which is used in building the framework of the craft, it was said. Work of cutting the metal to the required sizes and shapes probably will get under way in Goodyear-Zeppelin plants even before the Akron has been launched and removed from its gigantic dock at the airport where the second craft also will be constructed.

Only the possibility of governmental economy today was seen as threatening immediate start of construction work. The navy department's option on the second dirigible at a cost of $2,450,000, compared with $5,375,000 for the Akron, expires when the latter ship is formally accepted by the navy after its test flights.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the president, will release a flock of 48 homing pigeons when she christens the first zeppelin in the hangar at Municipal Airport next Saturday afternoon.

Gang Bullets In Bradford Claim Another Victim

Anthony Macchio, Known As 'Tony Mike' Wounded June 5, Dies In Hospital

IS BELIEVED AS INNOCENT VICTIM

Was With Albert 'Buffalo Al' Ritchie, When Gang Gunfire Killed Racketeer

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., Aug. 5.—Anthony Macchio, known locally as "Tony Mike", died today in Bradford hospital, second victim of gangland bullets which snuffed out the life of Albert "Buffalo Al" Ritchie, alleged racketeer and bootlegger, on June 5 last.

Tony Lorenzo, 37, named by both Macchio and Ritchie as the "trigger man" in the shootings, is held at the McKean county jail in Smethport waiting trial for the Ritchie killing.

Second Murder Charge.

Informed of Macchio's death, County Detective John J. Allison announced he would prefer another charge of murder against Lorenzo. Lorenzo is slated for trial at the October term of court.

Macchio was believed an innocent victim of the slugs which fatally wounded Ritchie as he sat in his car here while a Salvation Army rally was in progress nearby. The bullets passed through Ritchie's body and into Macchio's back. Since the shooting the entire lower portion of his body had been paralyzed.

Hopeless Case.

He was taken to Buffalo in an attempt to save his life recently but specialists decided his case was hopeless and that an operation might hasten his death.

Macchio was born in Italy but had resided here for 30 years. He was well known as a gardener and also noted for his activities as a bondsman in liquor law violation cases.

Lorenzo was arrested by state police at Woodville, south of Ridgway, on June 10 last, five days after the shooting.

Four Bullets Enter Body Of John Dearholt, 38, As He Sits In Parked Auto

REFUSED TO TELL WHO SHOT HIM

Police Believe Racketeer Was Slain Because He Failed To Pay Tribute

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Aug. 5—John Dearholt, 38, an alleged New York bootlegger, who had been operating here for two months, police said, was shot and killed in his parked automobile early today.

Four bullets entered his body, three in the head and one in the hand, but Dearholt remained conscious for an hour or so.

He refused to tell who shot him. He was sitting in his machine when another automobile, containing two or three men, drove up and stopped. The men got out, opened the door of Dearholt's car, and one of them fired the shots at him. Then they sped away.

Dearholt's wife, Germine, was said to live in New York City.

Investigators believed Dearholt was shot because he refused to pay tribute to liquor racketeers.

He was in training as a lieutenant in the aviation corps when the armistice was signed.

FORTY-SEVEN LIVES LOST

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—How the disastrous fire at the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the aged here appeared to the members of the order and the inmates of the institution, the night of July 24 when the flames and resultant illness took a toll of 47 lives, was to be told at the coroner's inquest today.

Sister Agatha, mother superior of the home; her assistant, Sister Mary Louise, and the two nuns on watch the night of the conflagration, will tell the jury what occurred when the fire was discovered.

At the first presentation of testimany in the inquest, given yesterday by firemen, it was testified that the blaze had probably resulted from spontaneous combustion growing out of oil-soaked wood igniting from a hot motor used to polish floors.

I could get away with that job. For Morrow could tell just what to do and who to do it to. I could attend the dinners and bull fights and make speeches to both and listen without laughing (much) to the Americans saying we got to take this country over and civilize it like ours. Like ours—Ha, Ha.

Governor Pinchot Abandons Trip

Decides Against Trip West Because Of Coal Mine Situation

MANY VISITORS SEEK INTERVIEWS

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today abandoned plans for a trip to the Pacific coast on which he had been expected to sound out political sentiment regarding his chances as a candidate for the presidency.

The governor explained cancellation of the trip by repeating his declaration that miners in western Pennsylvania, both employed and unemployed, are starving and that he must "find food for them".

Planned Oregon Trip.

As originally planned, the executive's western excursion would have taken him to Portland, Ore., where he had intended to witness the annual stampede and the reunion of the Alaska-Yukon Sourdough association, in session from Aug. 14 to Aug. 17.

In a telegram sent today to Gov. Julius L. Meier of Oregon, the Pennsylvania executive explained his inability to attend the western celebration.

"For the last few days," Gov. Pinchot said in the telegram, "I have been trying to persuade myself that the destitution in the soft coal region of western Pennsylvania would allow me to get away. With very great regret I am forced at last to admit that it will prevent my coming to Portland.

"Not only grown-ups but large numbers of children of miners both those on strike and those at work are suffering from partial starvation. Under its constitution, the state cannot appropriate directly. This increases tremendously the difficulty of the problem. I must stay here and do what I can."

Since the close of the last legislative session, the governor has spent comparatively little time at Harrisburg and today the public reception room of his office was crowded with long lines of visitors anxious for appointments.

The governor also indicated today that, pending the return of P. S. Stahlnecker, his secretary, from Europe, little will be done toward making personnel changes in various state departments.

If conditions were favorable for a return flight Hall planned to refuel his plane and return shortly, he said after recovering.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—Having lowered the record for a flight from New York to Chicago by 32 minutes, James Goodwin Hall, New York broker and speed flyer, took off at 11:11 a. m. today on the return trip to New York, haping to break the round trip record.

Andre DeCoppet accompanied Hall on both flights.

Objection Raised To Robbery Sentence

Attorneys For Desmond, Sankert And Rainolo, Claim Term Too Long

Attorneys for Francis Desmond, John Sankert and Sam Raniolo, who were sentenced to from 3½ to 10 years for robbing the Roux feed store at New Wilmington, have raised objection to the length of the sentence. According to their contention the prisoners could only be sentenced to from 2½ to 5 years on the charges on which they were convicted.

The case was tried and sentence was passed by Judge James A. Chambers, who is now enjoying his vacation in the wilds of Canada. Sheriff Frank N. Johnston will hold the prisoners in the county jail until he gets back when a disposition of the objections will be made.

At the trial of the case all three men tried to prove alibis by witnesses who claimed that they were in Youngstown at the time of the robbery.

Lindy Is Taking Plane Over Wild Route On Scheduled Time

(International News Service)

AKLAVIK, N. W. T., Aug.—5.—Flying on schedule, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife landed here in their Lockheed Sirius amphibian at 3:05 a. m. today.

The flight from Baker Lake where they took off yesterday at 5:45 C. S. T., took slightly more than eleven hours.

The Lindberghs surprised this town on the MacKenzie river as their plane swooped down from the skies. No word had been received here on the rim of the Arctic of the takeoff of the famous flyers from Baker Lake on another leg of their flight to Tokyo.

Dropping down from the murk of a northern twilight, Lindbergh and his wife were greeted by a chorus of howls from hundreds of husky dogs on the river bank as the big plane landed gracefully on the MacKenzie river.

Made Fast Time

As soon as word of their landing spread, the residents of this town turned enmasse to greet the great flyers and his wife.

Their plane was made fast to the river bank and as they stepped out, Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh found themselves before a group of traders, trappers, mounted police, missionaries, several wireless oper-

World Fliers Still Delayed

Herndon And Pangborn Are Held Up In Siberia By Bad Weather

(International News Service)

TOKYO, Aug. 5.—Hugh Herndon, Jr., and Clyde Pangborn, round-the-world flyers who abandoned their attempt to lower the record of Post and Gatty, were still held up at Khabarovsk, Siberia, today by unfavorable weather, according to a dispatch received in this city.

The ditspatch stated that the flyers would continue their journey round the globe, but that they might leave the route blazed by Post and Gatty and come to Tokyo whence they might attempt a non-stop flight of about 4600 miles to Seattle.

With Lendbergh, Amy Johnson and Herndon and Pangborn heading for Tokyo, this city was preparing today for a regular air carnival of famous flyers. It was thought possible that all three planes might be here at the same time.

There's more to a lawn than just planting the seed, and keeping it hosed now and then, there's more than just trimming it up to look neat, and going back over it. You've got to live with it and learn of it's ways, and know every blade by its name, you've got to remember its whimsys and moods, for never two days its the same. It needs pampered and coddled and plenty of care, from weeds you must always be free, for lawns represent what the folks are inside, the weather is just ninety three.

Athletic Events For Guardsmen At Mt. Gretna Today

Martial Activities Are Sidetracked For Athletic Tests Among Soldiers

WESTERN PENNA. GUARDS LEADERS

(International News Service)

CAMP KEMP, MT. GRETNA, Pa., Aug. 5.—Martial activities were sidetracked at the Pennsylvania National Guard camp here today as guardsmen ran off the second leg of the 28th division athletic meet.

Track and field stars of the three regiments at the camp, the 111th and 112th infantry and the 103rd medical regiment, crowded the entry lists in a race against the regiments who took part in a similar contest during the earlier training period.

In number of contestants and events to be run off, the meet was second in size only to the Penn relays, First Lieut. George Asnip, athletic officer of the 56th brigade, said. Thousands of visitors and soldiers who did not participate in the meet lined the sloping banks of Beary bowl, where the contests were held.

On the list of events were dashes, hurdle and relay races, a broad jump, high jump, shot put, equipment race, medicine ball race and a tug of war.

Title at Stake.

Results of the meeting, which was not expected to be ended before late afternoon, will determine the championship of the division. The high scoring regiment thus far during the training season is the 109th infantry from north central and northeastern Pennsylvania, which hung up a total of 93.17 points in the preceding meet.

Highest battalion rating went to the third battalion of the same regiment, with 46 points while Co. B, 103rd engineers, holds company honors with 36 points.

For the past two years, the division contest has been won by doughboys of the 112th infantry from western Pennsylvania, and Col. C. B. Smathers, regimental commander, announced that htey intended to capture the title again this year.

First events in the meet got under way in the forenoon, after routine camp duties were out of the way, and the entire brigade turned out to participate or watch the contests.

Amateur Bouts At Ellwood City Friday

Interest in Ellwood City boxing circles has taken quite a spurt during the past few weeks and each Friday night several bouts are staged in the open air between youngsters who like boxing.

There is no intention on the part of the men in charge to have knockouts produced. Rather they are more intent on the youngsters learning how to box and to better the physical condition of their bodies.

There will be another of the shows Friday night, at nine o'clock.

which he had caught in Neshannock creek about a mile this way from Wilmington Junction. The fish weighed four pounds.

Pa Newc is of the opinion that some attention should be given to street signs about the city. They are beginning to show the result of wear and weather. Couldn't a sign painter touch them up so that they would look more presentable? Likewise, the enamel signs which state that the speed limit is 20 miles per hour. Most of these have been battered around so that they are a mess. They might be removed entirely, Pa Newc would opine.

Holes in the resurfacing of North Jefferson street have not been repaired as yet. It would not be a great task, Pa Newc surmises, to repair these breaks in the resurfacing, and it certainly would help the appearance of the street. Maybe when the state highway department takes over this street this little matter will get attention.

Demands $1 Barrel.

As long as the gubernatorial order stands, more than 350,000 barrels of Oklahoma's present production of 425,000 barrels daily will be cut off. Governor Murray insisted his order would remain until the price comes up to $1, unless he is ordered to revoke his ruling by President Hoover or the United States Supreme court.

Among the first wells to be closed yesterday were five of the Champlin Refining Company and others of the Sinclair Company near Oklahoma City. Since the Champlin wells were operating under federal court injunction, their closing may bring notice of Governor Murray's action to federal authorities.

ators and the few white women who reside here.

In the background Indians and Eskimos who had trekked hundreds of miles from the wilderness to be in this town to see the famous flyer about whom they had heard so much.

The well-known Lindbergh smile flashed from the cockpit of the monoplane as it taxied to the bank. Mrs. Lindbergh, smiling happily, waved a greeting to the group on the bank.

Flyers Look Fresh

Both flyers looked fresh and cheerful despite the gruelling 1,100 miles of night flying over the Arctic wilderness. They supervised the mooring of the plane and then were taken over by the group of white people here who were ready to show them the hospitality of the Arctic.

The flyers experienced good weather on their flight over the barren north. Storms which swept the Arctic regions until yesterday subsided and no difficulty was experienced on the trip, Col. Lindbergh said.

The roar of the Lindbergh plane was heard long before it was sighted. The inhabitants rushed from their homes scanning the skies. Suddenly it came into view, circled the settlement and then dipped gracefully toward the river.

Point Barrow, Alaska, Next

Sending spray flying into the air, the big amphibian landed and then taxied over to the river bank fronting the town.

It was a colorful group that greeted the flyers, colorful because of the many hued clothes and ornaments worn by the Indians, Eskimos and trappers.

Col. Lindbergh said he and his wife were tired, but stated he would take off for Point Barrow, Alaska, as soon as possible, shortly after their arrival stormy weather again threatened. A heavy fog rolled in from the sea and the barometer fell .05 to 29.4 since their arrival.

BAKER LAKE, Northwest Territory, Aug. 5.—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, transversing the wild "bad lands" of northern Canada on their vagabondage to the Orient, were early today believed to be safe either at Coppermine or at Aklavik.

Just before taking off here at 5:45 o'clock last night (central standard time) Colonel Lindbergh announced that he was considering stopping at Coppermine, on Coronation Gulf, the mid-way point on the 1,115-mile journey between Baker Lake and Aklavik.

Although Copermine has radio facilities, it was predicted that difficulty would be encountered in relaying messages. It was expecetd the Lindberghs would set their amphibian plane down at Coppermine at approximately midnight (central standard time).

If the flying colonel and his wife decided to make the entire perilous hop to Aklavik without a pause, they would have been due in that settlement at about 6 a. m. (central standard time) today.

Weather conditions over the bleak northland were reported as generally favorable. There was always the possibility of sudden high winds and storms, however.

With the Lindberghs' radio, of which Mrs. Lindbergh is the operator, working more satisfactorily, the outside world received direct news of the vacationing fliers.

One aerial message picked up by several Canadian stations was:

"Took off Baker Lake at 5:45 p. m. central standard time.

Ship Is Solid

Our ship felt as solid as an ocean liner and we were able to move about freely without danger of upsetting the equilibrium of our craft.

All members of the crew and the eleven passengers, which included two women, had been told to be at the Quay Pharoux, at Rio De Janeiro where the DO-X was moored, at 6 a. m. (5 a. m. eastern daylight time) in readiness for the take-off a half hour later.

The engines had been tested and the ship provisioned for the long northward passage. Captain Paul Berner lost no time in starting. Clarence Schildhauer, American pilot, was at the controls.

Goes Into Air

A member of the DO-X crew gave her the gun and the seaplane skimmed along the surface of the bay into the wind. Leaving a trial of white foam, she at length began to skip a little, then lifted beautifully into the air and headed over Rio. We started exactly on schedule, at 6:30 a. m. (5:30 a. m. E. D. T.)

We were told that we should reach Caravellas about noon, in time for luncheon, but if we wished we could have sandwiches and drinks on board. As we have no kitchen, we shall have to rely on hotels at the places on our itinerary for hot food. After Caravellas the next stop on our schedule was Bahia. There the DO-X will stay overnight before proceeding towards Natal, Para, Paramaribo, Trinidad, San Juan and Miami.

Among the most enthusiastic passengers to board the DO-X at Rio were Mrs. Clara Adams of Tannersville, Pa., and "Miss Germany of 1930". The latter is now Mrs. Doris Von Clausbruck, wife of one of our pilots.

Mrs. Adams has long been airminded. She was aboard the Graf Zeppelin when it set out from Friedrichshafen on a trans-Atlantic voyage, but had to turn back when over Spain because of disabled engines.

CARAVELLAS, Brazil, August 5.—The German Flying Boat DO-X landed here at 11:31 a. m. (10:31 a. m. eastern daylight time) today, completing the first leg of its flight by stages from Rio De Janeiro to New York.

Passengers and members of the crew will take luncheon here and continue on to Bahia after the ship has been refuelled. An overnight stop will be made at Bahia.

Caravellas, Brazil, Aug. 5—Stopping only an hour and a half for luncheon and refueling, the giant seaplane Do-X left this port at 1:05 p. m. (12:05 p. m. E. D. T.) today for Bahia.

GREAT FEATS IN AIR

ADMIRAL MOFFET saw in the 5,000-mile non-stop flight of the Cape Cod to Istanbul a demonstration of the possibility of air attacks upon the United States from another continent. Aviation hailed it as a new achievement for the flying machine. Commerce probably discovered in it a new achievement for the flying machine. Commerce probably discovered in it new transportation worlds to conquer. And, judging from the popular reaction both in Turkey and America, the general public recognized in it only another heroic odyssey of the air.

Admiral Moffet's "possibility" is still only a bare possibility. Great as the development of the airship has been and though its tests have been thoroughgoing, it is not yet prepared to attack an enemy three thousand miles away. Crossing oceans in peace time is a different story from being compelled to attack and return home after that long and perilous trip across.

Nevertheless aeronautics are a thoroughly alive science. Boardman and Polando averaged better than a hundred miles an hour those 5,000 miles. Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh are traveling as fast on a vacation trip with no thought of records or tests, while circling the globe seems to be a matter of a fortnight.

Aviation is annihilating distance and time at such a bewildering rate that the onlooking public cannot fully grasp the situation. So fast and far do these aerial travelers go between two successive editions of a newspaper it sets one's brain in a whirl.

HOT WEATHER TALK ABOUT "I DO NOT CHOOSE"

Dr. Coupal's assertion that President Coolidge didn't mean that his "I do not choose to run for president in 1928" announcement should be taken literally may be classified as hot weather talk.

Dr. Coupal was attached to the white house as physician when Mr. Coolidge was in office, and this fact is the sole reason why his statement calls for any attention whatever. His assumption is that the president merely intended to cast aside any advantage his position might give him and that he would have loved to be re-elected, was misunderstood and disappointed.

Now where does one suppose that he collected this news? The good doctor might have been expert at reading the pulse, but surely he was not in the political confidence of Mr. Coolidge. Before resorting to print at this late day, he should have reread the Coolidge autobiography which states that the president deliberately took himself out of the way. He should have remembered that when there was a movement in Massachusetts to elect delegates and "draft Coolidge," the latter forbade it. He took similar measures in New York and he sent his private secretary to the Kansas City convention to head off the Coolidge combination forming there.

Coolidge made it plain in his reminiscences that he did not wish another term; that the exactions of office were too strenuous; that he wanted to retire. But there is just one point that he has not cleared up. Had the convention got into a deadlock and had turned to him as the last resource, what would he have done? Dr. Coupal is entitled to speculate along this line if he cares to. But it would be only speculation. As for 1932, we can not see Coolidge opposing Hoover in any circumstances.

PUTTING ONE OVER ON GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

George Bernard Shaw has returned to London after a few hectic days in Russia. Soviet officials got hold of him and saw to it that he saw just what they wished him to see. "We were treated like kings," he exults, "and the food we had was very good." He "can not speak in detail about the great experiment" that he witnessed, for what he has to say "must be carefully thought out and written," and he is making arrangements to do this very thing. But it is easy to imagine what he has in mind, since he asserts that "we had better follow Russia's example as soon as possible."

A very remarkable man is George Bernard Shaw. He must be, considering that he has discovered all about Russia in so brief a space of time. However, he is not so different from many an Englishman who has come to the United States, browsed around the hotels of New York for a bit and then returned to unload upon his countrymen the profound knowledge that he has acquired of the United States. There is a considerable area stretching between the Canadian and Mexican borders and from the Atlantic to the Pacific coatsts. There is a far greater expanse of territory contained within the boundaries of the Soviet Republic. But if a gentleman from London is prepared after a short stroll about the streets and into the lobbies of the theatres of New York to write his impressions of the characteristics of the American people and of their form of government, it ought not to be difficult for G. B. S. to grasp and understand the problems of Russia after a tour of Moscow and Leningrad under the supervision of the Soviet agents. He advises young men to go to Russia and settle there. No doubt many of them would, could they depend upon the same treatment accorded Mr. Shaw and his companions. But the stories told by returning American engineers who went there under contracts to work, not to joy-ride under pleasing auspices, don't bear out his ideas of the "great experiment."

"Russia is putting her house in order," says Shaw. "All the other nations are playing the fool." And apparently reflects the Inquirer of Philadelphia, it has not occurred to this bitter crtic of the world in general that the Soviet agents have been "playing the fool" with him—have been "putting one over" on him, in fact.

Another industry knowing no unemployment is that of the ant.

As a people we may be money mad, but we are not hoarders.

It is said Americans hate beating about the bush. Especially on the golf course.

A New York chain of restaurants gives you all you want but elbow room for 60 cents.

At least those ocean flights that never get started provide more suspense than those that succeed.

There would be few divorces if people would stop fighting when they forget what they began to fight about.

It has been suggested that Mr. Coolidge change his valets. A double-breasted blue serge is hardly appropriate with boots and hay rake.

That desire to hear the originals after hearing the classics jazzed is more or less morbid—like wondering what the victims looked like before the wreck.

How About "Sex Solidarity"? Once It Was Fashionable Now We Don't Hear So Much About It

By MARSHALL MASLIN

We don't hear about sex solidarity any more, and we used to hear about it all the time.

Once people talked about the Man's Point of View and the Woman's Point of View. And whenever there was a scandal of a tragedy in town, the men lined up on one side of it and the women on the other. Then men sided with the Man and the women with the Woman. The women told their husbands just what they thought of the situation: the men growled and told their real thoughts, only to the men. It was Sex Solidarity, thats' what it was, and it divided men and women, as clearly as a sharp knife divides a watermelon.

Little girls were taught to be Little Women and little boys were told to be Little Men. The boys had boy's toys, the girls had dolls. The boys felt immeasurably superior to the girls, the girls felt very sniffy indeed about the boys. Everything encouraged the Sex Solidarity—the dreamy boy was a "sissy" the tomboy was a worry to her parents. . . And then we had "campaigns" for the Emancipation of Woman. Lady Lecturers— regular rabble- rousers they were—made speeches to the women's clubs and talked about the intolerable tryanny of Men and what selfish, stupid brutes they were after all. And women in the audience forgot about their brothers and their fathers and their husbands—whom they had never thought of as brutes—and took up arms against the Common Foe. I think the women felt like noble, direct descendants of that wonderful tribe of Amazons, who killed any man who attempted to explore their country. I know the men felt puzled and irritated and unfairly abused.

Well, what happened to this Sex Solidarity. It seems to have gone out like Coueism and Oh-you kid! and making the World Safe for Democracy, and you never hear anything about Embattled Womanhood and Man-the-Simon-Legree any more.

On what great battlefield on what tumultuous day does the hosts of womanhood meet the villianous foe and win a glorious victory or go down in honorable defeat. I don't know. I didn't hear about it. It's not in any of the history books I've read. . . .

All I know is that it's years since I've heard any woman mention Sex Solidarity. Somewhere, it seems, there was fraternizing between the entrenched armies—and then there was a truce—and then a conference of the foes—and someone spoke a little common sense—and it was secretly agreed that men and women are not eternal enemies but just People—just Human Beings who are happy and troubled and hopeful and trying to do the best they can together.

That's what happened to Sex Solidarity. It was like the word that aviators write with smoke in the skies and a strong wind of truth blew it clean away.

A THOUGHT

Perhaps we've wandered far from what God meant
And planned these lives of our's to be—
Made ourselves slaves instead of staying free.
And sowed the world with crops of discontent.
With every year new trifles we invent,
Which not to own is labeled poverty,
Increasing thus the stream of misery
Gainst which our strength and courage must be spent.

Fortune and fame and pride vexations make.
If we were wise enough these lures to scorn,
Perhaps our hearts would not so often ache;
There might be less to fret about and mourn.
Seeking too much may be mankind's mistake!

Dear Fred:—Some queer things transpire in a courtroom, as I had occasion to note when I was drawn on one of the criminal jury venires last year. On one case a woman juror persisted in voting the defendant guilty in spite of lack of evidence to support it, because, said she, 'why was he being tried if he wasn't guilty?"

I am reminded of a jury verdict as recorded in the Docket. It was a justice court trial, and the jury, rather above the average in intelligence, returned the following verdict:

John Doe, Plaintiff
vs.
Richard Roe, Defendant

"Verdict of jury:
"We, the jury impaneled and sworn in the above entitled case, do upon our oath find that this is a hung jury.
"JOHN SMITH, Foreman."

It's Always Popular To Attack Unpopular Conditions.

New Castle is a big corporation. The councilmen are the directors. Some candidates say they will reduce expenses which will mean reduced taxes. We know of several corporations who will give any of those men twice the salary they can get as councilmen if they will take the job of reducing the expenses of the corporations. Why try to be elected to an office when so many of those jobs can be had by proving ability to make good. Yeah!

A Pittsburgh man who can neither read nor write is suing his partner for marking an "X" on a check for him, which he declares he did not authorize. Seems to us this should be lesson enough for him to at least learn to write his own name. O My gosh!.

I must be hateful by nature. When something bad happens to people I don't like, I don't pretend to believe the Lord is punishing them; and when they are bowed down by sorrow I feel sorry for them and wish I could help. But when people, do me some ill turn and later suffer some minor misfortune, I usually think to myself: "Fair enough! That's what you had coming to you." And I never reach the point where I enjoy trading with them. Some years ago a fellow got 600 of my hard-earned money, and when he broke an arm some months later and then lost a bunch of money in real estate, I had a feeling that the account was being squared. Another frisked me out of $400 and I felt a glow of satisfaction later when he lost his reputation and his living. Years ago, when I was earning a bare living a man asked me to order a certain article designed for the peculiar requirements of his business. I did it to accommodate him. When the article came he told me he had changed his mind and no longer wanted it. I had the bill to pay—$32 I think it was—and it meant the loss of a week's earnings. That was years ago. Doubtless the man has forgotten about it, for he frequently asks for my patronage; but the thing still sticks in my craw and I spend my money with his competitor. Another man, a real estate agent, once tried to sell me a lot. I told him I would take it, but the boss didn't agree with me and I had to back out. No papers had been signed, but I had given my word and common honestly demanded that I offer the agent the commission he would have made on the deal. Offer it I did, hoping he would be generous enough to let me down easy, but he soaked me the limit without so much as a word of sympathy or gratitude. A few years later he had a run of bad luck and was sorely in need of money. I don't know why he came to me—perhaps because I seemed an easy mark. It probably isn't necessary to add that I had no money for him. I'm not even sure that my expression of sympathy was wholly sincere. I wonder if other people are like that. I'd like to be a great-hearted fellow, generous enough to love and benefit people who treat me shabbily. It's childish to nurse grudges or rub your sore places to keep them raw. But I can't shed tears for the life of me when some fellow who hands me a dirty deal gets a kick in the pants from Fate.

Philippines' Place In Politics Still Regarded As Uncertain

Doubt As To Proposed Action In Favor Of Independence For Islands Creates Differences Of Opinion On Chief Features Of Question

While it is freely indicated that there are many who believe that independence for the Philippines may be made an issue between the major parties in the coming national campaign, doubt is expressed as to the clear division on the subject. Chief cause for this doubt is seen in the continued non-political difference of opinion as to the desires of the Filipinos and the wisdom or validity of a pledge made at the time the United States took jurisdiction in the islands.

The promise of independence is emphasized by the WALLA WALLA DAILY BULLETIN, with the thought that "the sooner the pledge is redeemed, the better for our national honor." That paper concludes: "Sooner or later the Philippines will go free. It is fairly safe to predict that few Americans will suffer any deep pangs of sorrow when that day comes; it might just as well come next winter as any time." The DES MOINES REGISTER holds that "regardless of our own poor record in the matter, and regardless of the mixed motives behind our present drift toward redemption of our pledges, these exist and the desire of the Filipinos exists." That paper remarks that, "despite planks of indorsement in both party platforms, neither party was really doing anything about carrying out our pledge until certain Philippine products came into competition with our domestic products."

"The Filipinos are not prepared for immediate independence," asserts the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "and it would violate the spirit of the Jones Law to force this upon them. Gradual withdrawal from the islands, with gradual adjustment of the trade between the two countries is the only fair mehtod of dealing with the situation." The Courier-Journal states further: "The Hoover policy toward Nicaragua and Haiti looking to withdrawal from those countries and the actual withdrawal from Guam as a naval base indicate a trend away from imperialism by the present administration." That paper concludes: "The traditional Democratic attitude is, of course, anti-imperialistic. It is set forth in the Jones Law holding out the promise of independence to the Filipinos when they are prepared for it. But it has not taken the swing toward immediate cutting loose of the dependency economically as well as politically. It has not been expressed in terms of the high tarifffites—a shut-out of Philippine products."

Belief that "Democratic strategy in Congress next winter will be to support the independence of the islands and, with the help of Republican irregulars, place an independence bill on the desk of the President," is voiced by the SPRINGFIELD (MASS.) REPUBLICAN, observing that "this will be done in the expectation that the President would veto the legislation." The Republican adds: "There is nothing convincing to show that President Hoover would veto legislation establishing a new nation in the Far East. It is an assumption quite devoid of reflection on all the aspects of the political situation at home. It was the West that over 30 years ago determined President McKinley to take the Philippines from Spain. It may be the West again that will be the decisive factor in finally disposing of the islands. The West has reversed its attitude. It objects to Filipino agricultural competition and fears Filipino immigration—which tells almost the whole story."

Investigations of conditions in the islands by Missouri Senators are discussed by the ST. LOUIS TIMES, with quotations showing changes in the attitude of Senator Hawes and the belief by Senator Patterson that "this is no time for independence." That paper also quotes a Filipino leader as stating that "the progress, growth and prosperity of the islands hinge on the United States," and that "independence of the islands would mean economic revolution and is unthinkable." The Times thinks that "wisdom will prevail in Philippine policies."

"It may be that the Philippines will at some distant day be given independence," comments the LEXINGTON LEADER, "though it is still a question whether or not Congress can, by the passage of a resolution or act, alienate territory of the United States. But as time passes and the financial and economic ties between the two countries are strengthened and become more tightly interwoven, the demand for independence will probably grow less and less vociferous, as has been the case during the past two or three years. Many of the Filipino leaders have changed their minds about immediate independence. It would prove to be a calamity, an act of scuttling and a black mark against this country. It would, at the same time, prove to be a bad move from the standpoint of national defense and would greatly lower the prestige of the nation in the entire Orient."

Denouncing "exploitation" of the islands, the COLUMBIA STATE remarks: "In the modern world, where liberalism and the rights of man, even of natives, seem to be more and more respected, and sometimes more honored yearly, it is hard to understand why such protagonists of the rights of man and magna cartas as England the United States and the more or less enlightened inhabitants thereof have the 'face' to withhold liberty from millions of men and women, and tolerate such loathsome conditions as have persisted for generations in India and for one or two generations in the Philippines, under their respective flags and gay holiday banners. The day will surely dawn and shine when humanitarians, even historians and philosophers, will marvel how such things could have been endured and even encouraged by the two peoples that were leading (in their own behalf) the enlightened and humane thought of the world."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THEY SHOULD BE MUZZLED

There is a popular superstitution among the inhabitants of Western Pennsylvania that the Iron and Steel business is about to move out to Chicago, Gary, Indiana Harbor or to some other seaport town and cities of the Pittsburgh District may go hang. The old croakers who are broadcasting this scandal are certain that the day is at hand when the very furnace will be as much abandoned as the Willy-Roy at Rose Point and the site of every mill will be as flat as the Walls of Jericho after Joshua issued his famous command.

I am not a steel man or the son of a steel magnate but I have conversed with a few up-to-the-minute Steel men and I am assured that all such stories are very vicious lies. Instead, the Pittsburgh District will, as long as Iron and Steel shall be used and as long as the waters of the rivers shall run to the sea, continue to be the District from which all products may be shipped to three-fourths of the population of the Earth cheaper than from any other District. The Chicago District may be able to reach a very small part of the United States with a cheaper rate and California may be able to fabricate finished products and deliver them to the Orient cheaper than any other American District but no fact now known will take from the Pittsburgh area its advantage.

The calamity howlers of New Castle ought to be suppressed, there ought to be a Law.

Belated Explanation Of Royalty Tragedy 42 Years Ago Is Given

By ALFRED TYRNAUER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

VIENNA, Aug. 5.—From the lips of the late Emperor Franz Josef's closest friend and confidante, came today a belated explanation of the tragic death of Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria, found lifeless by the side of his dead sweetheart in the hunting lodge of Mayerling forty-two years ago.

Apparently desiring to end once and for all the heated controversy that has raged for decades over the manner in which the Crown Prince met his death, Frau Katherina Schratt, lifelong friend of Franz Josef, gave a detailed statement to the Vienna newspaper "Morgen," asserting that Rudolph took his own life after firing a bullet into the brain of his sweetheart, the beautiful Baroness Marie Vetsera.

Frau Schratt's statement was a dramatic augmentation of the official version of the tragedy given out by the Austro-Hungarian emperor the day after the shooting occurred. Most Austrian authorities were inclined to accept it as authentic and definitely repudiating the frequent charges that Rudolph was murdered by relatives of the Baroness.

"It was a touching tragedy," Frau Schratt declared. "The Crown Prince abandoned life because he saw no hope of permanently uniting with little Marie Vetsera, whom he loved uncontrollably.

"Despite all that has since been written, the Crown Prince first shot the unhappy Baroness through the temple and then shot himself. All other versions are pure fairy tales."

Frau Schratt, now more than 70 years of age, was one of the most beautiful and talented women of Franz Josef's court. She was on equally good terms with the emperor and empress, and was in the palace to keep an engagement with the monarch the morning the tragedy was discovered.

She found the empress in tears in her private suite, and was delegated to break the news of Rudolph's death to Franz Josef, Frau Schratt declared. While the two women were tearfully discussing the tragedy, the emperor entered the room.

"A horrible moment!" said Frau Schratt. "As well as I knew the emperor I had never seen him so happy and full of life as that morning.

"I shall never forget the ensuing scene. The emperor's breakdown was so terrible that even today I am unable to find words to describe it. But I shall never forget, either, the heroic behavior in the ensuing weeks of the bereaved mother, who thought only of how to restore the emperor to himself and constantly begged me to do everything to help him forget his pain."

Franz Josef first attempted to disguise the tragedy, informing the crowned heads of Europe that his eldest son had died from a stroke, and later changed his version to one of accidental shooting. Finding both explanations were held inconceivable, Franz Josef decided to tell the whole truth, and announced the shooting was murder and suicide.

The controversy over the double tragedy recently was reopened by Professor Friedrich Marx of the University of Bonn, who declared after lengthy research work that he was convinced Rudolph was slain by relatives of his sweetheart, seeking to take her away from him, and that the Baroness was accidentally killed in the fray.

Frau Schratt's statement was the first she had made since the tragedy occurred in 1889.

Seize $2,000 From Kentucky Bank, Truss Up Bank Cashier And His Wife

(International News Service)

FRANKLINTON, Ky., Aug. 5. — Four masked bandits yesterday kidnaped W. E. Whitfield, cashier of the Peoples Bank, from his home and took him to the bank where they seized over $2,000 in currency after forcing him to open the vault.

With drawn revolvers the bandits threatened to kill Whitfield if he failed to open the bank vault. The cashier granted their demand and the bandits hurried Whitfield back to his home where they bound him and his wife to a bed, trussing their hands and feet with rope.

They then made their getaway in an automobile.

To Keep Closer Check On State Corporations

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5.—The employment of an investigator for the state department to examine charter applications and corporate papers may result in more than a stricter enforcement of the corporation laws. A closer check on companies doing business in Pennsylvania is likely to bring in more money to the general fund of the state treasurer.

The investigator who has just been given a job under the secretary of the commonwealth also will make a check of concerns doing business under fictitious name act. Under the strict provisions of this law scores of business establishments may be liable for fines in violation of the failure to register with the state.

Officials in the department of revenue in issuing licenses to distributors of gasoline have discovered some concerns that were not registered. Before permits were issued the department insisted that registrations be filed.

Each registration under the fictitious name act produces $6 for the state treasury. If a very close check is made thousands of dollars of additional revenue might find its way into the coffers.

The state treasury will not be the sole beneficiary through the secretary of the commonwealth enforcing the law about registration under the fictitious name act. All persons registering also must file papers in the county where they operate. The fees for this filing vary according to the county.

Star Lore

BEGINNING OF AIR DISTURBANCE THAT BRINGS STORM

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

When an atmospheric disturbance (cyclone) 500 to 1,200 miles across takes form, it always rotates the opposite way from the hands of a clock held face upward. The air flows in spirally from all points of the compass and ascends. Because the air in this whirl (cyclone) is ascending, the barometer within the distrubance stands at low pressure. The incoming air (commonly called wind) from northerly directions is cooler; the air drawing in from the south is warmer. Naturally this is so, for air is always cooler in northern latitudes and warmer in southern latitudes. As this formation that usually brings rain (in summer) always produces a low barometer, it is familiarly known as a "low."

Dry Hot Weather In Russia Reducing Grain Crop Prospects

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Russian grain crop prospects are being reduced by hot, dry weather, according to a cabled report from Agricultural Attache' L. V. Steers, received by the Foreign Agricultural Service, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, said the U. S. Department of Agriculture today. Yields per acre decidedly below last year are indicated, especially for the late sown spring crops. So far as wheat is concerned the prospective lower yields will be somewhat offset by the increase of about seven per cent in acreage this year over last.

Hot weather has hastened the ripening of crops and is said to be rendering harvesting difficult because of the early maturity of the spring crops along with the winter crops. Loss from untimely harvesting and inefficient field work is reported. Slow development of harvest in North Caucasus where previous rains delayed work and caused lodging are complained of in the Soviet press and also confirmed by private reports. The central, eastern and southeastern sections of Russia appear to be having very hot weather.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Read Often To Children —Dr. Myers

Books Safe In Hands Of Youngsters Properly Taught

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

For a number of years I have been urging parents to read to children, beginning before they are two years of age and continuing long after they have gone to school.

The school child can enjoy hearing stories several grades higher than those he can read alone, and the pre-school child may graduate into enjoyment of stories read which are hard enough for those of the third and fourth grade.

Put into his hands the one from which you are just going to read to him. Be sure it has vivid pictures on nearly every page, with very little reading on any one.

With the child beside you or upon your knee, calmly, carefully open the book, slowly move your palm down over the first page as you open it with "C-a-r-e-f-u-l." Restrain his litle hands, and don't let him turn the page until you have read what is there. Then guide him in turning it, or turn it for him. When he manifests gentleness with the book, pat his hand with liberal praise. At the first sign of a loss of interest, put the book away, giving him no other. Never turn ahead. He must learn to wait.

By and by he will have acquired a tenderness toward that book and it will be safe with him alone.

This subject I discuss more fully in a pamphlet "Education of Young Children Through Celebrating Their Successes" which may be had of the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, D. C. for a 5-cent stamp. For another nickel sent to the same address you may secure the titles of "A Thousand Good Books for Children."

As you read to the child he hears the same things over and over—exactly the same words and phrases, and gradually associates their meaning with the pictures. With his growing interest in meanings he can concentrate on stories where there are fewer and fewer illustrations.

Almost any parent or older child can read: only a few can tell stories well. When stories are read the the child connects them with the book, acquiring a strong motive to be able, by and by, to read such stories alone, and an affection for the book as a source of these fascinating tales.

Well selected books provide better English than most would use in telling stories, setting for the child good language patterns, adding to his meaning and vocabulary, stimulating his imagination and affording him a great deal of happiness.

Except when the child asks a question, don't explain: just read. Read and read and read. Encourage children of school age to read to those not in school. What an opportunity for dad. His reading to the baby offers him a means to be companionable and to ease the burdens of the worn and weary mother from a long, hard day.

There can be no objection, of course, to telling stories to children: only don't neglect to read to them. Despite their vividity, most of the fairy tales of Anderson and Grimm are unfit for children under eight or ten. Since you are working for their happiness you will, of course, avoid the gruesome, sorrowful and fearsome.

Don't ask the child to tell the story back to you or to memorize the nursery rhyme he hears. Fill him so full that he will run over by and by. Many portions of the things you read will come forth in all sorts of ways—in the yarns which he creates, in his conversation and, by and by, in his compositions when he goes to school.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Two pamphlets by Dr. Meyers may be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self addressed stamped envelpoe, to Dr. Garry C. Myers, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth St., Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: 'Punishments and Rewards" and "Fear."

Other Trees Take Place Of Chestnut

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5—Continued investigations of the chestnut tree in 28 counties of Pennsylvania by research foresters of the Department of Forests and Waters, indicate that in the majority of locations the chestnut killed by the bark diseases or chestnut blight is being replaced by companion trees of desirable kinds.

Chestnut formerly was the most common forest tree in Pennsylvania and 3000 temporary plots in forest opening caused by the death of the chestnut have been observed during the course of the studies. Records of the relative proportion of the more desirable trees which make up the new growth succeeding chestnut indicate that in fertile forest areas the good kinds of trees and the inferior kinds are about equally divided, but elsewhere two-thirds of the new growth is composed of the most disirable species.

Low Price Wheat Will Help Birds

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5.—Because of the unusually low price of wheat many farmers are allowing grain to stand for the benefit of bird life, according to reports to the Game Commission.

While in former years little was left for the "gleaners" of wild life during the present season many farmers have allowed corners of fields or sparsely grown patches of grain to stand.

Many farmers also are reported to have allowed sheaves of grain to stand in the fields. In that way the grain is more accessible to the birds during periods of heavy snow.

Craig's Retirement Brings State Issue To Fore

(From News Bureau)
(State Capital)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5. — The forthcoming retirement of James H. Craig, as deputy secretary of internal affairs, brings up the subject of his successor and what freedom Secretary Philip H. Dewey will have in filling the vacancy. Craig, who has been with the department for a number of years, is not expected to leave the state service until the end of next month.

The department of internal revenue affairs is one of the three independent agencies on the hill other than governor . The others are auditor general and state treasurer.

In the latter two appointments are made and salaries increased without consulting with the executive branch of the government. A similar condition prevailed in the department of internal affairs previous to the 1929 session of the general assembly.

At that time the late James F. Woodward, then secretary, accepted budget control in order to secure salary increases for a number of employes whose compensation had been statutory. The pay boosts would have been out of the question so long as the salaries were fixed by law.

Since that change the governor's office now passes on all salary increases and the employment of new personnel. Any one considered objectionable to the administration can be prevented from securing a job or at least the salary reduced to a very low figure.

During his first term Governor Pinchot conducted a campaign to completely abolish the department. He termed it unnecessary and filled with "political incompetents". His efforts went for naught for to abolish the department required amendments to the state constitution. One session of the legislature recently passed such an amendment but it never went further.

In 1923 when the governor realized he could not get rid of the department without amending the constitution he cut the appropriation to the bone. It was necessary to drop employes and others suffered salary cuts. He also transferred the geological survey board to the forestry department.

When the Fisher administration took office the department was rehabilitated. The geological board was restored, appropriations increased, the department given control over municipal bond issues and the aeronautics commission placed under the jurisdiction of the secretary.

In his proposed changes to the administrative code Governor Pinchot desired to have the aeronautics commission placed in the forestry department. This change was denied by the senate. The appropriations, however, are higher than during the first Pinchot term.

With budget control over the department the hands of Secretary Dewey are tied so far as complete freedom of operation are concerned. He cannot employ a messenger who does not pass muster with the governor's budget bureau.

Poison Spray May Affect Fish Life

HARRISBURG, Aug 5—Farmers who use poisonous sprays to protect crops against destructive insects and diseases are cautioned by the bureau of plant industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture against mixing the materials or dumping the residue from the sprayer in such manner that nearby streams or ponds become contaminated with poison.

"There is danger that such an oversight might not only endanger fish and other aquatic life, but also human life and livestock" the bureau warns.

Six complaints of fish poisoning have been received during recent weeks. Investigations have shown the possibility that discarded spray material and residue from mixing operations may have caused the trouble.

High Speed Costs Much Saves But Little Time

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5.—High-speed operation of automobiles in addition to being dangerous is also wastefully expensive, says W. W. Matthews, Chief of the Safety Section of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

"Scientific research has determined the wastefulness of excessive speeds both in gasoline consumption and wear on tire and motor mechanism," Matthew says. "At 70 miles an hour more than twice as much gasoline is used in going the same distance as would be required at a speed of 20 miles an hour. At a speed of 40 miles an hour the saving approximates three to five miles to the gallon over the results at the 70-mile speed.

"The saving in time is not as great as most operators appear to think when they drive their cars at high and insidentally, unlawful speed. A 50-mile rate will enable the motorist to reach his destination only a few minutes earlier than if he had driven at 40 miles per hour.

"For example: A 10-mile trip can be covered in 10 minutes by a car traveling 60 miles an hour; in 12½ minutes at 50 miles an hour; in 13⅓ minutes at 45 miles per hour, and 17½ minutes at the legal 40-mile rate."

Puppy, 'Dead' Four Times, Scoffs At Cat's Nine Lives

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 5.—L. O. Rogers owns a pointer puppy that scoffs at the nine lives of a cat.

The dog has already used up four of its lives, and if it continues having the same luck it'll have many more to live through.

Recently the puppy was caught in a steel trap and was missed for several days before he was found with a broken leg and near death from starvation and thirst.

A few days after he had recovered, the pup unwisely took a nap in the driveway. A car backed out and ran over the dog's middle, an accident serious enough to take the life of any dog. But the pup pulled out of that escapade also.

Recently, on a walk with his master, the dog stuck his head into a palmetto clump. A rattlesnake sunk its fangs in its nose. After a few days in recovering, the dog again stuck his nose in a palmetto clump and tangled with a rattler. He's recovering now, and is cured of playing with snakes.

80th Division To Hold Convention At Pittsburgh

Scattered Members Of Famed 80th Division To Meet For Four Day Convention

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 5.—Pittsburgh today was the point of convergence for the scattered members of the famed 80th division, whose twelfth annual convention is scheduled to open here tomorrow to continue through until Sunday.

Although the possibility existed that the former record attendance mark of 10,000 would not be equaled or bettered, early estimates of the number that might be expected ranged at 5,000 visitors up. Today prominent local politicians, business men and the service club representatives were prepared to greet the delegates.

The session will get under way tomorrow with an executive committee meeting in the afternoon and the formal opening of the convention in the evening. Business sessions and individual unit luncheons are litsed on the four days' program while vaudeville shows and dancing were to be held nightly.

The divisions' annual military ball was slated for 9 p. m. Friday evening, followed, on Saturday by the division banquet.

Moved Into Street, Family Keeps James For Pouring The Tea

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5.—Evicted from a house in the fashionable Los Feliz section, a family of three has made itself comfortable in an encampment of household goods on an adjacent side street. Tea is poured by a faithful man servant.

Settled down in the midst of chairs, sofas and beds, with an improvised canvas awning as shelter and an oil stove to cook on, the women expressed themselves as determined to stay pending legal proceedings to regain the house.

Family Arguments End At Free Public Library

Many Dinner Table Bets Settled With Visit To Library, Librarian Says

Did you know that the public library is considered by many local families as the official "arbiter of family arguments"?

Most of these harmless arguments start at the dinner table, Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian, reports and they range through the whole category of human knowledge.

Where is Abyssinia? What is the capital of Peru? Where is ambergris found? Who was president during the panic of 1907? These and hundreds of other questions involve many local families in endless disputes. Sides are taken, an investigator appointed and a trip to the library unearths the necessary information.

"There are few subjects of argument not covered by the wide range of references, encyclopedias, handbooks, almanacs and other books in the library," Miss Sterling, says. "We are called upon to help find the answer, settle the bets and pacify the feud in many a local family. It's another interesting library service which is part of our daily work here."

Mistake Made By Police In Place Of Arrest

Reflected On Persons Located In The Address Given In Report

In the report of the arrest of Dr. Cole and a girl, at his office early yesterday morning, it was mistakenly stated that the arrest occurred at 119½ West Washington street. The address should have been 18½ South Jefferson street, the police state.

The mistake was due to the fact that the wrong address was placed in the report record of the arrest at the police station.

Chief of Police C. C. Horner stated this morning:

"We regret very much that the mistake was made and make this statement in justice to those, who may have been injured through the mistake in reporting the arrest at 119½ West Washington street instead of 18½ South Jefferson street, where it did take place.

"Statement made this morning to me by Sergeant G. C. Syling, makes the situation clear to all."

The statement follows:—

"C. C. Horner, Chief of Police.

"In regard to the location of the apartment where Dr. Cole and the Miller woman was arrested, I want to say that the mistake was made by me. I did, however, think the officers stated it was at the corner of Norris Alley, so I put the number as 119½ West Washington street, but instead it should have been 18½ South Jefferson street.

"G. C. SYLING, Sergeant."

The occupants of 119½ West Washington street, were in no way connected with the case.

Wrecked Register Found By Police

Taken From Store Of Alfred Keeling On June Fifteenth

Cash register stolen from the store of Alfred Keeling, 404 East Long avenue on June 15 has been found through the efforts of Detective C. G. Logan and Officers Frank Reynolds and Thomas Lynch. It was found in the basement of a vacant house on Pennsylvania avenue in a badly wrecked condition having been smashed up evidently by the thieves in an effort to get the contents.

The recovery of the register was due to the fact that the police learned that a boy was playing with the part of a cash register. This tip was followed up and the remains of the register finally located in the cellar of the vacant house, where the boy had found his piece of the register. The identity of the register as that of Mr. Keeling has been fully established.

JERSEY POLICE NAB 6 FLEEING REVOLT LEADERS

Five Cubans And One American Arrested Near Atlantic City As they Land

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 5.—Six men, including an American, and a Cuban lawyer who says he is a member of his country's senate, were arrested here today as they climbed to the steel pier from a speedboat.

Police held them for Glouchester City immigration authorities after their papers disclosed them to be Cuban revolutionists, it was reported.

The men are said to have admitted fleeing from New York in an auto after police there descended on the headquarters of the alleged revolt movement, arresting almost 100 Cubans, all of whom had prepared to board a ship off the New Jersey coast.

The leader of the six men arrested here gave his name as Rufael Sischka, 51, 137 W. 82nd street, New York City. The American said he was William P. Carey, 76, 1912 College avenue, New York City.

Police asserted the other four men were Cubans who came to this country for recruiting purposes.

Apes Only Animals To Take Cold

Many Infections May Afflict Both Man And Beast

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Septic Sore Throat

Domestic animals suffer most of the same chronic diseases as man—such as hardening of the arteries, stones in the kidney, etc. These are, however, fortunately not contagious. There are some contagious diseases that are absolutely peculiar to animals—distemper, for instance, which seems to be much like human influenza or measles, but which is never contracted by man. On the other hand certain human infections never afflict the domestic animals—the common cold being the most conspicuous. When experimenters tried to find an animal to study the common cold they discovered that none but our blood brothers, the apes, could be inoculated.

There are, however, many infections which both man and beast can have. Within the year prominence has been given in the press to parrot fever—psittacosis. Several epidemics were reported, most of them being traced to infection of a human who fondled a sick parrot or parakeet.

These diseases may occur in man and animals under several different circumstances. The disease may be common in animals and without difficulty transmitted to man and vice versa.

In septic sore throat the animal is hardly sick at all but human beings are very easily infected, become very sick and death may occur. The disease is carried in milk—and is caused by a streptococcus, a spherical-shaped germ of which there are many varieties. The variety which causes septic sore throat is streptococcus epidemicus.

The germ is normally a human infection and is transmitted to the udders of the cow by human contact, probably by the hands of a dairy worker. A curious and baffling feature of these infections is that the cow's udders, or milk bag, may not be evidently diseased or sore at all, but the germ may become implanted in the milk ducts and enter the milk in enormous quantities.

The disease appears in man usually in epidemics. It was first observed in the United State in 1911, in an epidemic studied by Winslow in Boston. There were 1,400 cases, of which 70 per cent got milk from the same dairy. Many other epidemics have since been studied, the last in 1928 in Lee, Massachusetts, where there were 1,000 cases with 40 deaths in a population of 4,050.

The symptoms in humans follow shortly after drinking the infected milk. There are severe headaches, backaches and grippy pains in the muscles and joints. The temperature goes to 103 and 105. The throat is sore and generally diffusely red, but sometimes there is a localization in the follicles of the tonsils. The disease lasts a week or ten days, with great weakness and prostration.

The only method of prevention is pasteurization of the milk, which appears to be always successful. Health boards are alert to the danger of the disease, and all of them insist on rigid precautions.

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

Central Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—What few New Yorkers know:

That more visitors to Grant's Tomb inquire about "the grave of the amiable child," which is nearby, than ask the principal items of interest in connection with the President's memorial...But nobody knows the answers for sure...

That despite the fact that visiting motorists unfamiliar with local ordinances, native New Yorkers are responsible for more auto accidents, proportionally, than the visitors...

That Gar Wood, the speedboat king, in town not long ago, told friends he believed the maximum had been reached in size for marine racing engines, together with virtual perfection in hull design—although he is tinkering with a mammoth new power plant for his Miss America craft next year...

That Magistrate Gottlieb, of Yorkville Court here, sometimes "fines himself" $2 when a man is brought before him for sleeping in Central Park—giving the money to the defendant; that that last week he dispensed $45 in this fashion...

That Sing Sing prisoners now are driven to the Administration Building in a private motorbus on visiting days...

That it is incorrect to refer to a native of Scotland as a "Scotchman," "Scotsman" being the word and "Scotch" being the designation only for what comes in bottles...

That, in this dripping hamlet, it is currently impossible — well, almost impossible—to find potable beer, due to the closing of two big breweries recently which were flooding the city with 360,000 gallons daily.

That Staten Island Borough employes now get paid off from armored cars on street corners, in the belief that holdup artists prefer at least semi-privacy for their work...

That society folk who own vast estates at Newport, R. I.—the "millionaires' Coney Island"—are now going into business to make operating expenses if possible. Caretakers of the Robert Goelet showplace advertise cut flowers, hothouse grapes, nectarines; Mrs. Moses Taylor, whose father willed her $110,000,000, sends her tenants into the city with milk, poultry and the like every day...

NO ESCAPE

Minna Gombell, the Fox discovery, would have laughed at you two years ago if you mentioned a talkie career for her. She wanted to be a doctor and poured nightly over her pre-med books. Her father is an M. D. in Baltimore and her uncle is the well-known Dr. Henry Salzar, of Johns Hopkins. But at a family conference she was convinced—what with recent initiation to dissecting rooms and all—that being a physician was no career for a pretty and sensitive girl.

So she took a flier to Hollywood and, having some stage experience, she landed a contract. Her first picture was, by sheer accident, "Doctor's Wives." Her next, "Bad Girl," soon to be released and packed with hospital stuff!

GOING ABROAD

You will believe this yarn from the passport desk down in the Treasury Building on Wall Street if you know some of the other odd things which happen daily in this loony town.

A gentleman in immaculate morning attire presented himself before one of the clerks and expressed a desire to obtain a passport. He had his birth certificate, photos and even a witness—the witness being rather poorly dressed to know so grand a personage.

Carefully he filled in the answers to the form questions and handed his completed questionnaire over the counter, with the fee. Everything was in order. But in the blank after the question as to his destination abroad he had written "Boston, Mass." His boat was to be the S. S. Uriscille, of the Fall River night line!

Triplets Observe 90th Birthday

English Trio Separted By Oceans Observe Event

LONDON, Aug. 5—Exceeding the proverbial three score and ten by an additional 20 years, Charles Mayhew, the eldest by three quarters of an hour of boy triplets is shortly to celebrate his ninetieth birthday. Mayhew's two brothers live in Canada and Australia, thus making the veteran triplet combination an empiregrown product.

Chas. Mayhew lives in the King's Cross district of London and was formerly Charles Dickens' shoemaker. Mayhew says that in Dicken's "Our Mutual Friend" there is a picture of him at his work.

The finish of the Russian War is named by Mayhew as the most glorious day of his life. St. Paul's was lit up in celebration of the occasion, the whole shape of the cathedral was there in gaslight. Mayhew sang at the funeral of the Duke of Wellington. As a boy he sang at St. Clement Danes.

Mayhew worked at his trade until he was 86. He eats, as he puts it himself 'everything that comes to hand." He has a standing challenge open to any man over 70 to walk to Cambridge, a distance of about 5 miles. Mayhew will use a pair of shoes made at his own bench He expects to see his one hundred and tenth birthday in good health.

Defer Sentences Against 37 Held In Mine Trouble

National Board Member Of United Miners And 36 Striking Miners Held

WERE VIOLATING COURT INJUNCTION

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., Aug. 5.—John Ghizzoni, national board member of the United Mine Workers of America, and 36 striking miners today were free under deferred sentences after they were found guilty of violating an injunction granted by the court prohibiting picketing and intimidation of workers in open-shop mines in this district.

Judge J. N. Langham, who granted the injunction to the R. and P. Coal company, the Kemp Coal company, and the Clearfield Bituminous Coal corporation, deferred sentence when the defendants promised to obey the injuction in the future. He warned them that any infraction of the court order would result in their being called for sentence by the court at once.

Flagrant Violations

It was expected in court circles that the Armstrong county court would take similar action on an injunction granted there to the Helvetia Coal company, whose mines at Sagamore were alleged by officials to have been hampered in their operations through intimidation by Ghizzoni and other strikers.

Flagrant Violations

It was expected in court circles that the Armstrong county court would take similar action on an injunction granted there to the Helvetia Coal company, whose mines at Sagamore were alleged by officials to have been hampered in their operations through intimidation by Ghizzoni and other strikers.

Judge Langham declared that the violations of the injunction were "flagrant and established beyond question." Witnesses testified that Ghizzoni declared his men would march in spite of the injunction; that marches on the Ernest and McIntyre mines were ordered by him; that he once stated he would arm his men with rifles and bayonets and march on the mines, and that several families of strike-breaking miners had been intimidated.

Pinchot Wins Race But Its A Foot Race

Does Seventy-Five Yards In Nine Seconds To Defeat Secretary "Jim" Malone

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5—Gov. Gifford Pinchot, it was agreed generally here today, is still in the running.

At the department of property and supplies picnic at Hershey park yesterday, the fleetness of foot of the governor and Secretary James F. Malone, head of the department, was debated.

A 75-yard course was laid out and the two officials toed the mark. Malone got away to a false start but on the second gun broke away fast. Malone stumbled and fell and the governor, 66 years old, romped in.

He did it in nine seconds flat.

Pittsburgh Lad Drowns At Altoona

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 5.—George Replogle, 17, of Woodburg, was drowned in the Woodbury dam, about 14 miles south of here last night, when the improvised raft he was piloting upset, it was learned today.

Buddy Evans, 12, Pittsburgh, a companion, was rescued from a similar fate.

Replogle was propelling the raft with a long pole which became caught in the muddy bottom of the dam. When he clung to the pole, the raft was upset and he was hurled into the water.

The youth's body was found, caught in the mud, after the dam was drained.

Harry Lecrone, at whose home the Evans boy was visiting, swam into the waters of the dam and rescued him as he was about to sink from exhaustion in his effort to save Replogle.

Legs Paralyzed By Beach Dive

CANONSBURG, Pa., Aug. 5.—Steve Pavick, 26, of 535 Park avenue, remains in critical condition in the Canonsburg General Hospital, his lower body entirely paralyzed as a result of an accident while swimming at Willow Beach, near Houston.

Hospital officials are somewhat puzzled as to the nature of Pavick's injuries. He is thought to have fractured a vertebra in his neck. Pavick was playing about a large wheel at the pool and dived from the device. It is believed his head struck the concrete bottom.

Bulletin Owner's Will Probated

Philadelphia Newspaper Owner Leaves "Bulletin" To His Sons

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 5.—The Will of William L. McLean, publisher and owner of the Evening Bulletin, was offered for probate today at the register of wills here. McLean died last Thursday at his home in Germantown. The value of the estate was given as $250,000 and upward.

Aside from requests to his two brothers and employes at his home, McLean left his estate equally to his three children, Robert McLean, William L. McLean, Jr., and Mrs. John S. Williams. Mrs. Williams' share is to be held in trust. Executors of the will dated November 7, 1930, are McLean's sons and the Provident Trust company.

The two sons, through personal ownership or as trustees, thus receive the entire ownership of the bulletin. They had been associated with their father in the business for many years. Robert being vice president, and William secretary-treasurer.

"Human Pin Cushion" Studied By Experts

LORAIN, O., Aug. 5.—Due to an abnormality of his nervous system, Walter Easler, known here as a "human pin cushion," can pierce his face and arms with needles without feeling any pain.

Physicians say his is a remarkable case of sensory anasthesia, with the explanation that the nerves which carry the sensation of pain as well as of heat and cold to the brain do not function in his body.

But specialists point out he faces a real peril in that he may develop acute indigestion, or appendicitis, or some other form of illness in which pain is the chief warning and his condition might become critical without his having any warning.

Maybe John Barleycorn lost his place in the sun, but he has his moonshine still.

Boy Scout Campers Take Long Hikes

Campers at Camp Philips started the day with the usual morning dip at the Village. During the Scout School period many tests are passed each day. Special instruction is given in each test and merit badge at this time. Today special instructions were given in Signalling and in Firemanship, Merit badge. The swimmers enjoy the swim in the clear water running at the Village Pool.

This afternoon ten boys started on their fourteen mile hikes. Harry Falls and Harold Dunn took the route through Princeton, McConnels Mills, Breakneck Bridge, and return. Kenneth Evans, Heitch, and Charles Jenkins returned at about seven o'clock from a hike through Harlansburg, Elliots Mills, following the river route. Clarence Evans and David Evans reached camp first from a hike through Rose Point, McConnels Mills, past Dixie Inn and Grant City. Joe Ferris and Bill Lackey continued up the river for about two hours then returned. William Schuster made a trip to Harlansburg and to Camp Fred L. Rentz.

The camp joined in a football game in the afternoon. Those who did not play spent an hour boating. Gordon Welch took charge of it.

Colors were held shortly before mess to make possible a longer game and activities period in the evening. The losers of the afternoon game of football played another game but failed to score the winning touchdown.

The campfire started at 8:30. Al Stump took charge of arranging and presenting it. It started with a few peppy songs. An "Unharmonious harmony" gave their presentation of Old Black Joe. George Horton took the part of many speakers in a novel presentation. The campfire was built in the form of a huge dummy which the makers say represented Davy Jones. This served as a suitable fitting for the Sea Chanteys sung by a group from the Rotary scout cabin.

Hans Holmes demonstrated his great powers as a magician. Marcus and Duey played the parts of an act called Dumb Dave. Other attractions followed. The program was brought to a close with the singing of "Here's to Camp Philips," and Taps.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

One of the things we farmers need not be afraid of is a nitrogen monopoly, and this in spite of the fact that the commercial nitrogen producers have been trying for a year to reach an international agreement on sales and prices.

Forty years ago most nitrogen fertilizer that was not made from animal bones and so forth was the natural product nitrate of soda from Chile. More recently, they have been recovering nitrogen from soft coal, when it was turned into coke, and taking it from the air by several processes.

What they have been trying to do is to get the South American nitrate of soda men and the European nitrogen producers together, but this plan, it appears, has now been abandoned. They could not agree on who was to sell how much nitrogen, and at what price.

That is a break for the American farmer. But even if the nitrogen "cartel" had gone through, the American farmer need not have been alarmed. Every square foot of soil is a nitrogen factory on a small scale and the output of this valuable element can be greatly increased by making things comfortable for the nitrogen bacteria that do the actual work.

The secret is in the growing of the legume plants alfalfa, clover soy beans, and a number of others—which not only makes superior feeds for animals themselves, but are the natural hosts for the nitrogen-fixing bacteria in the soil.

The 1930 census figures show, by the way, that farmers are well aware of their opportunities as nitrogen producers. The acreage given to legume plants has increased in ten years from 13,600,000 to 20,000,000. And while this is not nearly enough, even now, it shows that we are moving in the right direction.

There is a good field left for the nitrate of soda and the rest of the nitrogen fertilers. On some crops it pays better to buy nitrogen than to plant legume crops. The cost is what finally determines whether a given farmer will grow his own nitrogen or buy it.

It is like baking bread and doing the family wash. In the cities these household duties have been taken over by the great bakeries and the steam laundries, not so much because it is cheaper as because it is easier, and the product usually is better and more uniform.

But if the prices for bread and laundry work never can be pushed beyond a certain point, as the bakers and laundrymen know to their sorrow. In times of depression many housewives go back to bread making and the washer.

Similiarly, farmers have the whip hand when it comes to nitrogen. They will always be willing to buy some of it from the fertilizer men, but never at an extravagant price. That is one thing we need not worry about.

Girls Warned Not To Rush To N. Y. For Jobs

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Girls out of work and having less than $25 a week to live on are warned to stay away from New York despite despite the numerous opportunities it offers to achieve fame and fortune.

The city welfare council has announced that it is always hard, and today much more difficult, for girls from other cities to obtain work here because many employers prefer workers who live at home. With the decline in living costs there has been a corresponding drop in wages, forcing thousands to lower their standards of living, and frequently bringing disastrous results.

A continuous stream of young people are brought here by alluring pictures of New York life and letters back home from girls who, although they are nearly starving, will not admit defeat to relatives and friends. Once here, they soon discover how wonderful the city is, but that it is no place to be without work or a bank account.

In order that strange young women may be guided properly, girls' clubs and room registries have organized and are ready to give information concerning rooms and employment.

Body Of Woman Is Identified By Her Sister

Was Found In The Montgomery Dam At Grove City Tuesday Morning

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Aug. 5—Body of the woman found Tuesday morning in the waters of Montgomery Dam by Paul Ritter, Grove City youth, was identified late Tuesday as that of Miss Elsie Heschler, aged 40, of 872 Progress St., North Side Pittsburgh.

The identity of the body was established by a sister, Mrs. L. Schuler of Jackson Center. Miss Heschler had resided at Jackson Center at one time. The fact that she had been picked up along the highway by William Schultz, a local blacksmith on Monday and brought to this place and had said that she had resided in the vicinity of Jackson Center, was really what resulted in her final identification.

It was a case of suicide according to Coroner W. C. McGrath.

Snake In Auto Causes Mishap

Driver Lets Go Of Wheel When Snake Suddenly Makes Appearance

(International News Service)

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Aug. 5.—The latest entry for the "best snake story of 1931" was revealed today. Best of all, it's true.

Eugene Henrie crouched contentedly behind the wheel of his speeding automobile. In the rear seat were his brother William and Theodore Diettrick, a friend.

Suddenly a five-five foot blacksnake uncurled lazily from under the rear seat, slithered across the floor and up over the front seat where it regarded Eugene with considerable curiosity.

The snake looped itself in loving fashion over the unsuspecting Eugene's shoulder. He let out a loud yell, let go of the wheel to rid himself of the snake and then tried frantically to regain the wheel.

He failed. The car swerved crazily, left the highway and crashed into a pole. William and Theodore were injured slightly.

The snake escaped unharmed—perhaps to play the same joke on some other motorist.

It is as a result of this conference that the hearing is being considered. The consumers petitioned council to investigate. Several meetings have been held since with company officials.

TO RENOVATE COLLEGE

Much of the work on the carapus will be finished during this month of vacation.

FIND OLD STUMP

A relic of possibly several centuries ago was dug up in excavation for the bridge over Wolf Creek on the college campus. Parts of a pine tree stump in a remarkable state of preservation was found just several feet above the strata of the glacial period covered with a vein of white sand which college scientists say accounts for its remarkable preservation.

The find is an acho of pioneer days here when pine forests covered the town site. So well is a part of the stump preserved that the grain of the wood in an original state is found in many of the pieces.

The most interesting of these finds have been brought to the college office and will be placed in the museum of the school that is to be located in the new Hall of Science.

FORMER PASTOR HERE

Among the Bible School attendants is Rev. W. H. McPeak of Santa Anna, California. He was pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church at Mercer and of the same denomination at Sharon.

Revise Student Aid Applications

New Form Has Been Printed By Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Aug. 5.—In order to make certain that all students who receive financial aid are the most worthy, a new application form has been devised by Dr. Charles Freeman and Professor C. W. McKee at Westminster College.

The new form asks for information on total assets and liabilities of the student and an estimate of expenses for the years for such items as tuition, room and board, clothes, dues, books, and traveling. The blank also has questions dealing with value of real and personal property of the student and of the parents and the occupation of the father.

All applications for financial aid, either through scholarships, loans, or employment at the college, must be signed by a banker, a minister, the high school principal and an employer. The applicant's signature must be certified by one witness.

Due to the increased demand for financial aid this year, Westminster authorities feel that those students who are most worthy and most needy should get first attention, and the new application form is a guarantee of this.

Big Conventions Widely Sought

Both Republican And Democratic Conventions Eagerly Invited

ATLANTIC CITY IS LATEST IN FIELD

By GEORGE K. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Bidding for next year's major political convention is becoming general.

Atlantic City, the big playground on the Jersey Coast, notified the Republican National Committee today that it is sending a committee to Washington next week to formally present its claims for the 1932 meeting. Philadelphia put in its bid ten days ago. Chicago has served notice of intention of out-bidding all competition at the proper time. Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, San Francisco and other cities are in the field for one or both conventions.

The Atlantic City contingent will be headed by Rep. Isaac Bacharach, one of the Republican leaders of the House.

Political leaders could not recall today when there has ever been such early interest in staging the two big conventions. In other years, bids usually have not been made until the committee meetings in January. But the cities are getting in their bids this year six months in advance of the committee meetings and twelve months in advance of the conventions.

Cold cash considerations are likely to play a greater part in the selection of convention sites next year than ever before. Both the Republican and Democratic organizations are "broke."

They will be deeper in the red by the time the committees meet in January.

The Democrats have frankly put their convention on the auction block for the past ten years, but the Republicans, being better off financially, have generally sent the convention where the White House wanted it to go. Calvin Coolidge wanted it to go to Cleveland in 1924 and to Cleveland it went. In 1928, the Hoover organization distated Kansas City.

President Hoover probably will decide where the Republicans will meet next June, and the National Committee will rubber-stamp its approval after driving the best financial bargain possible with the promoters. It has been rumored, with no confirmation, that the Hoover organization rather favors Cleveland next year. Chicago and Atlantic City, however, are going to put up a real contention.

There is pronounced sentiment in Democratic quarters for San Francisco. They met there in 1920 and had a harmonious convention. Their last one of that kind.

In the end, the Democrats probably will go where the most money is offered. They are more than half a million dollars in debt, and the outlook for campaign contributions next year isn't very roseate. That goes for both parties, with business conditions what they are, and little signs of recovery ahead.

Motor Vehicle Code Changes

Digest of the amendments to the motor vehicle code as prepared by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation with which the New Castle Motor Club is affiliated, continued from yesterday, follow:

Section 1016—has been amended making it unlawful to enter an intersection where stop signs have been erected without first coming to a complete stop. This is not to be confused with a through-traffic stop intersection. It is the thought that stop signs will only be erected at dangerous intersections, thereby eliminating the necessity of designating the entire highway as a through-traffic highway. Operators of fire department, police or fire patrol vehicles responding to a fire alarm, in the chase or apprehension of violators of the law or ambulances when traveling in emergencies are the only vehicles or operators that are exempted from this provision. A penalty of five dollars has been imposed and these fines, as well as those fines derived for not coming to a complete stop when entering a through-traffic highway, now go to the local authorities. Heretofore, the fines for through traffic stop signs were payable to the State Treasury. Therefore, local police officers did not enforce this provision very stringently. However, since these fines are now payable to the local authorities we can look for better enforcement.

This amendment is now in effect, etc.

Section 1020—was amended so as to bring all the parking provisions under this particular section.

This amendment is now in effect, etc.

Section 1025—was amended that when a traffic signal showed green or go, vehicular traffic must yield the right of way to pedestrians crossing or who have started to cross the roadway on the green signal.

This amendment is now in effect, etc.

This section was also amended giving the local authorities the right to provide for turns on special green arrow signals. However, where a left hand turn is provided for by special green arrow signals there shall be no left turns on green or go.

This amendment is now in effect, etc.

Prepares To Fight Child Paralysis

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5—The Department of Health has taken all possible steps necessary to deal with the seasonal increase of infantile paralysis during the present hot season Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the bureau of communicable diseases, said today.

"The early symptoms usually are gastro-intestinal in character and prompt reference to the family physician is always necessary," Dr. Campbell said. "It should be remembered that prompt and efficient after care has a great deal to do with restoring the use and function of the damaged muscles."

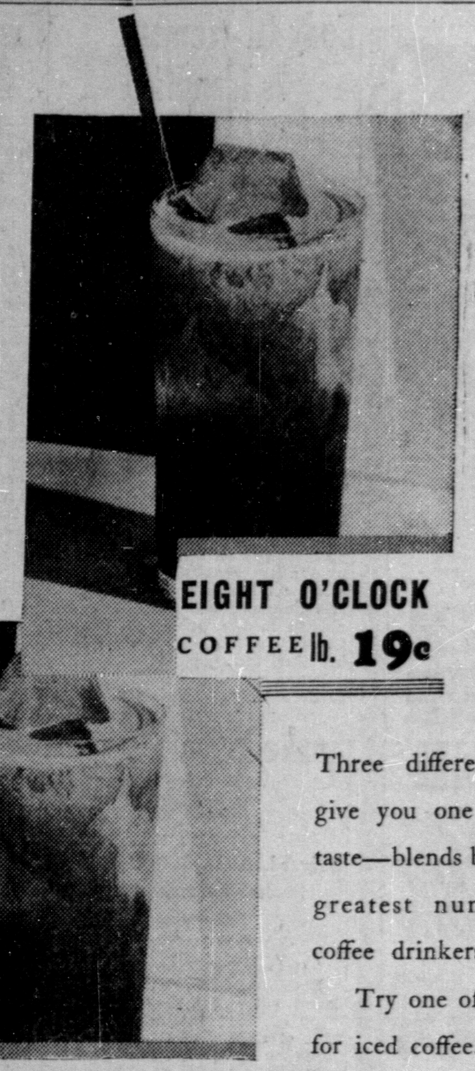

Keeping children away from large crowds is the primary suggestion which Dr. Campbell makes in suggesting ways to avoid contagion.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Those who can look back 50 years have seen some remarkable changes in the method of carrying on the work of the police and fire departments of the city. They can remember back in the days when practically all fire fighting was done with volunteer organizations. Then came the gradual establishment of the paid fire department with volunteer organizations still being of material assistance in the battling of flames in homes, business blocks and other buildings of the city. They can remember the paid fireman, who was really on duty all the time, except for occasional days off each month. Now there is the two platoon system, which enables the paid fireman to be like any other citizen who has a job in which there is the use of the turn method. He works, then he is off duty and so on. The volunteer organizations are still in existence and prove of very material assistance to the regular paid firemen in many instances. In the police department they have seen the protective force of the city increased from the small number of three or four to the present complement of 48 persons, including the chief, captain, lieutenant, sergeants and policewoman. They have also witnessed the change from the old method of a night and a day turn force to a three turn system, so that an officer works but eight hours, unless through some necessity of the department. The fact of the matter is that today the city of New Castle really enjoys police and fire protection on a scale equal to many cities of even greater size than it is.

Hospital Aide Will Sponsor Donation Days

President Announces County Committee For Coming November Donation

The stage is being set by the Jameson Hospital Aide society for "hospital food donation days" to take place sometime in the first week of November.

Members of the committees of the society who are in charge of the soliciting of gifts of fruit and vegetables for the Jameson Memorial hospital are busy right now in appointing assistants in each church and other organizations of the city and county.

With the completion of the appointment of assistants to take care of the gathering of donations, the campaign will be on and there is no doubt in the minds of the committee chairmen but that this year's donation days will be of unlimited success.

Because of the splendid crop of fruits and vegetables this year it is believed that the gifts to the hospital for it's patients will be much greater than last years'. And last year's donation days were very successful.

Mrs. J. Norman Martin announces the following persons who have taken charge of the soliciting of gifts:

Mrs. Fred Rentz, chairman of the city, with Mrs. W. L. Finnefrock and Mrs. John B. Offutt as assistants. Mrs. Fred Rentz will have aides in the Methodist, Baptist and Episcopal churches; Mrs. Finnefrock in the Presbyterian and United Presbyterian and Mrs. Offutt in all others. Their aides will be published later.

Mrs. B. F. Butler is chairman of the county with the following assistants:

Mrs. W. W. Campbell, New Wilmington; Mrs. S. A. Black, East Brook, Rich Hill and Volant; Mrs. T. C. West, Liberty Grange, Neshannock U. P. church and Harlansburg road; Mrs. Estella Henron, Wampum; Mrs. Paul Kanengeiser, Bessemer; Mrs. A. R. Williams, Hillsville; Mrs. J. F. Hoffmaster, Edenburg; Mrs. S. J. Brown, Harlansburg; Mrs. C. A. Morehouse, New Bedford; Mrs. Garette Boyd, Princeton; Mrs. Frank Sherger, Energy and Gardner; Mrs. Thomas Nesbitt, Shenango U. P. church; Mrs. John Madigan, Walmo; Mrs. William K. Foster, Enon Valley; Mrs. W. H. Weinschenk, Savannah church and Willard grange; Mrs. Wylie Brewster, Westfield church and Westfield grange; Mrs. Everett Boak, Hermon church and Willard grange; Mrs. David Reynolds, Kings Chapel; Mrs. W. O. Taylor, Mt. Jackson U. P. church; Mrs. Arthur Hainsworth, West Pittsburg; Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Plaingrove; Mrs. J. A. McClymonds, Rose Point and Oak Grove U. P. church; Mrs. A. T. Eckles, Harbor; Mrs. H. W. Mehard, Moravia and Mrs. Dewey Funk, Pulaski.

Brest, Mrs. Ida Wallace, E. L. Gwin, Stanley Brest and Rev. T. C. Henderson.

The next regular meeting will be held Friday evening, August 21. At this meeting the New Wilmington Grange members will be guests of the North Beaver Grange and will have charge of the program of the evening. Dunlap Enters Race For Mayor

Former Mayor Announces Candidacy For Republican Party Nomination

W. H. DUNLAP

The following announcement was made today by former Mayor William H. Dunlap:

During the Great World War there were many Campaigns in New Castle, which required a great amount of work and the giving of large sums of money for carrying on the work of the Red Cross Soldier Relief, and selling bonds to help the National Government. At that time there was a unity of work and purpose which was a credit to New Castle and resulted in giving the city a place of honor. Since that time the city is losing more and more of unity of purpose. There are a number of persons and small groups who prompted mostly by personal spite or personal ambition who continually criticize and tear down everything which tends to stabilize the city. And to vent their personal spite spread unjust criticism, lies and suggestions which are injuring the city and nearly every institution in New Castle. Most of these men never made any sacrifice in behalf of their city or their fellow men.

If this city is to keep out of the "Flag Stop Class" something must be done to nullify the efforts of those who would only tear down and offer nothing to build on. Working men, business men and professional men are all suffering from the depression in business, and nothing will be gained by fighting each other. Even though working together, the people of this city can do little to help National conditions, but can do much to help local conditions which will benefit the entire city.

Every economy possible should and must be put into force by all branches of government and by every department. Men out of work cannot pay.

Arrangements should be made to avert the shutting off of water, gas and light in the homes of those out of work. No one should be hungry or lack sufficient clothing. No family of the unemployed should be evicted this winter because of their inability to pay rent.

The physical and mental results of under-nourished children will have to be answered for later.

In announcing as a Candidate for the Office of Mayor of New Castle, I would remind you that I served in that capacity during the years 1924-1927 and ask you to remember the administration of law enforcement during those years.

There as many things to be done now. The local merchant and housewife should be protected from the host of peddlers, solicitors and fly-by-night merchants. Our streets must be made safe both for pedestrians and drivers. Accidents are increasing because of the reckless and careless drivers.

The Police Department is responsible for the safety of our children and people on the street. And these accidents should be investigated and the reckless driver made to pay the penalty provided by law. In no other way will the street be made safe for travel.

I ask your support on September 15th.

Colored Legion Post Will Make Membership Drive

Will Stage Contest With Dempsey Post Of Aliquippa, Pa., Post

Plans were made at a recent meeting of Colonel Charles Young Post, No. 528, of the American Legion, for a membership drive among the colored ex-service men of this district, the purpose of which is not only to increase the membership of the post here, but also to further the movement for an adequate meeting place and club rooms for the use of the members.

One of the methods to be employed in increasing the membership, is in a competitive membership drive with a colored post in some other district. To this end, a challenge has been issued to William Fred Dempsey Post, No. 647, of Aliquippa. It is anticipated that the challenge will be accepted and as soon as it has been, plans will be completed for the membership drive and contest.

The time and the place of the next meeting has not as yet been decided but will be announced later. In the meantime, the members of the post are showing great activity in putting the drive and proposed contest over as soon as started.

Mahaffey Receives Transport License

Ellwood City Flier One Of Youngest Transport Pilots In Nation

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 5.—Burton Mahaffey, 19, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Mahaffey of Fifth street, has successfully passed his transport test and is believed to be the youngest pilot to do so. Following his successful examination young Mahaffey has been promoted to chief pilot and instructor of the Monongahela Air Transport Company at Fairmont and Morgantown, W. Va.

The new pilot's work will consist of piloting the company's passenger planes on transcontinental flights and of training student flyers.

Mahaffey had started his aviation career three years ago when a high school boy under the tutelege of Kenny Wright of this city. In less than a year he had obtained his private pilot's license and a few months later added the commercial pilot's license. His new license makes him a very capable pilot, for it is known to be the most rigid examination in aviation. A very significant point concerning the young man's career is that he passed the three tests upon taking them the first time. The chief pilot has entered upon his duties last Saturday with a class of 10 students.

Cupid Takes a Hand

The good, old sport of holding hands is apparently as satisfying to film folk as more ordinary souls. Constance Bennett, blonde charmer of the movies, is shown in this exclusive shot joined with the Marquis De La Falais, husband of Gloria Swanson, by Cupid's handclasp while both intently watch the Davis Cup finals played between France and England at Roland Garros Stadium, near Paris. Although the Marquis is not yet fully divorced from Miss Swanson, it is widely rumored that he and Connie will wed when the final decree is granted.

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW WHAT REAL SMOOTHNESS IS .. DRIVE an OLDSMOBILE

There could hardly be a question in your mind as to whether or not smoothness is a quality you want in the next car you buy. But there is very apt to be a question as to what is meant by "smoothness"—and just how smooth the modern automobile can be.

Removal of all doubt is a simple matter. Take a ride in Oldsmobile and compare the smoothness of this increasingly popular car with that to which you are accustomed. Drive at idling speed. Push on up to your usual touring pace. Then step on the accelerator and see how smoothly and quietly you travel at top speed—if you care for fast going.

When you learn how really "luxurious" performance can be . . . how easy, effortless, and restful, there's more than a chance that you'll decide you have been missing something important in motoring enjoyment.

Thousands of motorists have swung to Oldsmobile this year because of its splendid all-round performance. And many of them have based their final decision on the car's inherent smoothness—a factor which is doubly important because it bears not only on your own motoring enjoyment but also on the life and service of the car itself.

★Your Oldsmobile dealer will gladly place a car at your disposal so that you may test Oldsmobile's smoothness first-hand. In this way you can prove to yourself how much such Oldsmobile features as Syncro-Mesh Transmission, Quiet Second Gear and Down-Draft Carburetion mean to the smooth, quiet delivery of power. Above all, you will feel the inherent smoothness of the Oldsmobile engine throughout the entire speed range. Visit your dealer today.

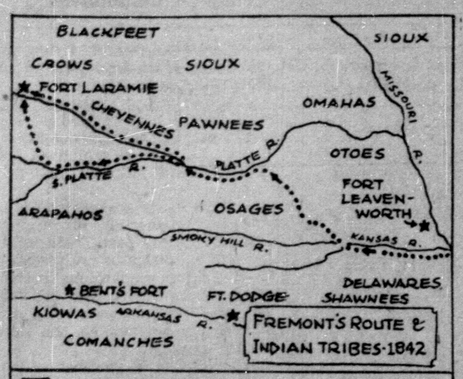

Oldsmobile may be purchased on the convenient G.M.A.C. time payment plan. $845, the two-door sedan, spare tire and bumpers extra.

Kit Carson—21. The Explorers At Fort Laramie

TURNING AWAY FROM THE KANSAS RIVER, FRÉMONT MARCHED NORTHWARD TO THE PLATTE. WHERE THE RIVER FORKED, HE DIVIDED THE PARTY, SENDING ONE GROUP UNDER CARSON UP THE NORTH PLATTE, WHILE HE HIMSELF LED THE OTHER ALONG THE SOUTH BRANCH.

A FORTNIGHT LATER THE TWO PARTIES MET AT FORT LARAMIE ON THE NORTH PLATTE, AN IMPORTANT TRADING STATION ON THE OREGON TRAIL. DISQUIETING NEWS GREETED THE SURVEYORS. THE SIOUX WERE ON THE WARPATH AND LARGE BANDS OF HOSTILES HAD BEEN SEEN BETWEEN THE FORT AND THE ROCKIES.

(Copyright, 1931, by J. Carroll Mansfield)

FRÉMONT WAS DETERMINED TO PUSH ON. CALLING HIS MEN TOGETHER HE WARNED THEM OF THE DANGER THAT LAY AHEAD AND OFFERED THEM THE CHOICE OF TURNING BACK OR GOING ON WITH HIM. ONLY ONE MAN CHOSE TO TAKE THE BACK TRAIL.

THE EXPLORERS HAD ALREADY COME 650 MILES FROM THE MISSOURI. THE ROCKIES LAY 200 MILES FARTHER TO THE WEST. ON CARSON'S ADVICE THE WAGONS AND SURPLUS BAGGAGE WERE LEFT AT FORT LARAMIE AND THE NECESSARY SUPPLIES CARRIED ON PACK HORSES.

Burke, National Open Champ Will Be Here Friday

Billie Burke Successor To Bobby Jones Will Have Von Elm As His Partner

TRAINOR-SMITH COMPLETE FOURSOME

New Castle is going to be honored on Friday afternoon by the presence of Billie Burke, newly crowned National Open Golf Champion, who is coming to the New Castle Field Club along with George Von Elm, his strongest contender to engage Trainor and Captain V. Arthur Smith in an 18-hole match exhibition. The event starts at 3 o'clock.

Burke is a comparatively new comer to big league golf, but this year he set about to make himself known and the first thing that made the youngster famous was his persistent shooting in the low 30s that gave him a place on the American Ryder Cup team that defeated the British at the Scioto Course at Columbus, Ohio. Walter Hagan captain of the Cup team was taken with the form shown by the Greenwich, Conn., former caddy and in qualifying rounds Burke lived up to everything that had been said about him. He is good. He is a persistent hard fighting golfer. He never quits. He was just about licked at Toledo, but he got the old putter working and was out in front when the going was the toughest.

The golfing fans of New Castle are quite fortunate in having a man the caliber of Burke here, and also Von Elm, the man who one might say is National Open Champion almost, because Georgie sure did make things interesting for Billie at old Inverness. Their two extra-matches will live long in American golfing history.

Jess Haines Hurls Cardinals To Win Over Pirates, Shutout Streak Ends

PIRATES FAIL TO HIT IN PINCHES

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Aug. 5—The Pittsburgh Pirates shutout streak was broken to smithereens yesterday by old Jess Haines, Cardinals pitcher who set the Ensmen down with seven hits and beat them 7 to 1.

The Pirates up until yesterday had four straight shutout victories to their credit and it looked like a record or something, but the worm turned.

The Cardinals had two big innings the sixth and seventh when they scored all of their runs.

Carnera Stops Roberto Roberti

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 5.—Roberto Roberti couldn't stem the Carnera avalanche.

He made the bravest kind of a stand against Big Bootsie in Dreamland Park, Newark, last night, but Carnera was too much for him. Roberti lasted a little less than three rounds, the bout ending in 2:35 of that chukker.

Roberti hit the deck six times in all before the referee, Gene Roman quite humanely stopped the bout. Roberti was downed twice for counts of seven in the first. After he had been flattened four times in the third, he got up and was fighting when Roman stopped it.

Sato, a Japanese, who used to sell fish, managed to turn in a par 72 despite heavy winds. Careful playing marked his game throughout.

Three sharpshooters trailed Sato at the half-way point in the 36-hole struggle for medalist honors. Charles Albertus of Philadelphia, Art Nutting of Louisville, Ky., and David Mitchell of Indianapolis, Ind., each turned in cards of 74.

Armour Pictured As Fine Example In Playing Irons

By ROY GROVE
Central Press Golf Writer

52 Copyright, 1931, by Central Press

NUMBER 52

Every golfer, whether professional or star amateur has patterned his game at some time or other after some great player.

You will find much of Vardon's methods in Bobby Jone's game. Many of our modern day professionals use Hagen's methods with the woods and irons and resort to Jones' stance when on the putting green.

Jones himself tried Hagen's putting stance for a few years but could never get the naturalness of the stroke.

For the school of golfers of today they could do no better than to study Tommy Armour's game especially in the department of irons.

The outstanding feature in Armour's game is the way he takes the iron away from the ball.

After all, hitting the ball, when playing irons, depends on how you take the club back for the wind-up.

The backstroke, or the naturalness of the backstroke, will tell you the actual results.

fd

Armour takes the club back, not only slow, but in an upright fashion, this brings him into the ball and on out towards the hole.

To finish out towards the hole with the iron is the success of the iron shot to the green.

Note the points in Armour's swing relative to the stance and the hands and arms in getting away. He finishes the same way. Never swing around on the ball. This cuts or hooks.

New Castle Racquet Club Takes Victory

Greenhill Racquet Club Falls Victims To South Side Boys

New Castle Tennis and Racquet club racqueteers defeated the Greenhill racqueteers last night on the Phillips-Robingson courts by the score of 3-2.

Carl Gennock and Nick DeCarbo were the star performers for the Tennis and Racquet club team. Gennock took three sets to defeat "Ossie" Riley 6-2, 5-7, 6-4. DeCarbo easily set H. Rosser down in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4. The Gennock-DeCarbo combination took things easy in the doubles by handing the O. Riley-Rosser combine a straight sets defeat by the scores of 6-1, 6-1.

Greenhill racqueteers won two singles. John Riley found a tough match in Gerald Zieve but won out, 6-2, 6-8, 6-3. "Lanky" Anderson defeated his smaller opponents, Dewey Casimiri, 6-0, 6-3.

The second doubles match was called off at the end of the fourth game of the second set. Gerald Zieve-S. Isabella took the first set from Teece-Stone, 6-3 and were leading 3-1 when the match was called by agreement due to darkness.

New Castle Tennis and Racquet club wishes to play other teams in the city or vicinity. It is the purpose of the club to stimulate interest in tennis as a league organization in the city of New Castle. A league will be sponsored next season if enough interest is created. The Greenhill racqueteers have agreed to enter the league. No fees are asked. Teams wishing to play are asked to call at the Phillips-Robingson courts, across from the New Castle hospital, any time during the day to arrange a match.

PITTSBURGH TEAM RECORD BROKEN

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Folks who believe in miracles and near-miracles turned today to the New York Giants with the hope they might yet make a race out of the National League pennant chase.

The men of McGraw defeated the Brooklyn Robins twice on Tuesday and now are seven games behind the St. Louis Cardinals.

Forty five thousand fans, most of them from Brooklyn, saw Fitzsimmons win the opener, 6 to 3, largely because of a hitting attack headed by Captain Travis Jackson, who got three safeties off Clark. Walker hurled six-hit ball in the 3 to 2 nightcap with Dazzy Vance the hurling victim. Hunnefield doubled to score Jackson with the winning run.

Barton, the recruit outfielder from Los Angeles, whacked two homers as the Cubs won from the Cincy Reds, 7 to 3, after taking the first game 4 to 2. Bush limited the Reds to seven hits in the opener.

A fumble by pitcher Heinie Meine in the sixth gave St. Louis three runs and eventually a victory over the Pirates, 7 to 1. Seven safeties were all the Bucs could garner off Haines.

Ran Benge hurled shutout ball up to the ninth inning and the Phillies conquered Boston, 3 to 2. The Braves took the vesper, 4 to 2, with Sherdel proving fairly effective. Chuck Klein, the Phillies big stick man, got homer No. 24 off Sherdel.

Vic Frazier left down Detroit with eight clouts, the White Sox annexing it, 5 to 1. It was Frazier's second win in the four game series, his victories giving Chicago an even break.

Wet grounds held up the Cleveland Indians at St. Louis and other clubs were not scheduled.

Rosenbloom To Battle Slattery

"Battle Of The Playboys" To Take Place At New York Tonight

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The fifteen round bout between Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion and court jester of the night clubs, and Jimmy Slattery, the Barney Oldfield of the state highways, at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tonight might well be dubbed the "battle of the playboys."

Slapsy Maxie of the cream-puff punch is a 6 to 5 favorite to clown his way to a decision over the Buffalo Irishman, no longer the speedy, slashing master-boxer of the 1925 period when he was hailed as a future heavyweight champion.

In both attendance and fight pyrotechnics, the match promises to be the poorest titular bout held here since Rosenbloom defended his title at Madison Square Garden last winter against one Abie Bain for the edification of the working press, a few hundred deadheads and 14,000 empty seats.

Rosenbloom has never brought the customers rushing to the turnstiles in a hysteria of ecstasy, while the lustre of Slattery's many scintillating performances was dimmed here by knockout at the hands of Dave Shade, Paul Berlenbach and Jimmy Braddock and a defeat by Tommy Loughran.

Tonight's bout will mark the seventh meeting between the two old rivals. Slattery won the decision four times and Maxie twice. When Rosenbloom won the title at their last meeting in Buffalo, they were about even going into the fifteenth and last round. Slattery, however, thinking he was well ahead, loafed through the last panel, which went to Maxie along with the decision and the tiltle.

The grasshoppers won the featherweight championship of South Dakota. At that the turkeys who emerged from the fracas without their feathers, came off better than the farmers.—The Omaha Evening World-Herald.

Here And There In Sports' Land

Archie Campbell, pitcher and Elmer Yoter, third baseman of the Columbus American Association team, have been traded to the Indianapolis club for pitcher Cvengros and infielder, Bill Narlesky. Campbell was purchased from the Cincinnati National league club last winter. Yoter was obtained from Minneapolis.

Protector, fleet Peter Volo colt from the Keeler stable, Auburn, N. Y., won the American horse breeder for three year old trotters which was the feature of the opening day of the Grand circuit racing at Charter Oaks. Protector clicked off his victory in straight heats.

Chalk up another technical knock-out victory for Primo Carnera. He scored over Roberto Roberti last night at Newark. Ten thousand fans paid to see the bout which was akin to a farce. When Roberti wasn't on his feet he was on the floor. Several times the referee forced him to arise. Finally he stopped the uneven contest.

Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion and Jimmy Slattery, contender, will meet tonight for the championship. Before Maxie won the title Slattery defeated him four times. In the titular, 15 round bout, however, Rosenbloom gained the verdict. The fight will be held at Ebbets field, Brooklyn.

Bill Donnelli has been matched with Homer Gray, at 163, Vito Mangine with Willie Stribling at 135 and four other battles are being arranged for the boxing show to be held August 17, at the bowl. Efforts are being made to match other local boys with out-of-town boxers.

Shenango Pottery Meets Hillsville

The Shenango Pottery team of the Lawrence County League meets the Hillsville team tonight at Centennial Field in a regular scheduled game at 6:30 o'clock. Paul McCullough former big league pitcher and lately with Minneapolis of the American Association will hurl for the Pottery team. The Shenango team needs a victory tonight to stay in second place.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Reactionary Market Sends Stocks Lower

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The stock market was carried to new low ground on the current reactionary phase today, as a renewal of professional selling, together with scattered outside liquidation, influenced declines of fairly substantial proportions in most sections of the list.

American Telephone slumped 2¾ points to 167, other weak spots in the popular trading list included Westinghouse which was down 1⅝ at 58⅜; U. S. Steel off 1⅞ at 84⅜; Eastman Kodak off 2 at 135; Allied Chemical down 2⅛ at 105⅞; Case Threshing off 1⅝ to new low at 51¼; and American Can off 1¾ at 90.

Among the weak Rail issues were Atchison, off 1½ at 147⅝; Baltimore and Ohio off 1⅜ at 47; New York Central off 1⅝ at 71¾; and Pennsylvania off about a point at 42⅝.

Fox Film was outstanding weak in the Amusements, on rumors of impending dividend omission, sagging a point to 14½.

In addition to American Telephone, pressure in the Utility group was also evidenced in North American, American and Foreign Power, and International Telephone.

Auburn with a dip of 2¾ points to 138¼ led the motors downward.

Coppers were moderately lower.

Lindberghs' Northern Most Point

A general view of all that composes Point Barrow, Alaska, the little, isolated town on the rim of the Arctic, which is the northernmost point touched by Colonel and Mrs. Charles E. Lindbergh on their flight to the Orient, is shown above. To reach this outpost of civilization on the North American continent, the Lindberghs had to traverse miles upon miles of barren wilderness in Canada and Alaska. The intrepid flying couple is shown at right with their powerful Lockhead Sirius plane at left.

Molesworth Beats Hackett Kennedy

R. W. Molesworth Goes To Final In Municipal Tourney Against A. Vitto

R. W. Molesworth beat Hackett Kennedy in the semi-final match of the July elimination tourney at the Municipal Course yesterday afternoon. Molesworth shot an 83 against 85 for Kennedy.

Kennedy had Molesworth 2 up at the end of the first nine, with Kennedy turning in a fine 39 score against 41 for Molesworth. Kennedy had a birdie 2 on the tricky Number 8 hole, which is a par 3, a short 178 yard layout.

Both golfers blew up on the eleventh hole taking 7s, while Kennedy had to take a 6 on the tenth hole and a 6 on the 15th hole.

Quite a large gallery followed this match. Both boys are popular golfers and well known for their golfing ability in this city.

Molesworth will play A. Vitto on Saturday in a 36-hole match for the Class A championship.

The cards of the semi-final match yesterday:

Molesworth	655	446	434	41

Grasshopper Scourge Is Worst In Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—The grasshopper scourage in the west is one of the worst in years and nearly equals the historical outbreak in 1876, Dr. W. H. Larrimer, an entomologist in the department of agriculture, said today.

In some sections the hordes of pests have destroyed crops by the wholesale and Larrimer said that perhaps nothing could be done to wholly eradicate them until next spring. In certain areas where the damage has not been so great, however, a poison bait, consisting of arsenic mixed with bran and molasses could be used advantageously, he asserted.

Three-year-old John Polando, Jr., is shown attentively listening and speaking into the radio at his home in Lynn, Mass., about his famous father, who, with Russell Boardman, landed in Istanbul, Turkey, after a long-distance, non-stop, record-breaking flight of 5,000 miles from New York. John, Jr., was so proud of daddy that he hit the photographer over the head with a tennis racquet to prove his enthusiasm

OUR NEXT NATIONAL CHAMPION?

Here is an action photo and a close-up of Ellsworth Vines, the lanky California tennis star, who has been hailed as the next national singles champion. Vines is 19 years old.

The Trade Union league is a member of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War, and has pledged 25,000 women's names to swell what is hoped will be a total of 1,000,000 to send to the conference.

Judge in Difficulty

Judge G. A. Roberds of Olathe, Kas., who has a reputation for severity in liquor cases, faces charges that he "embezzled or conveyed away" approximately $5,000 of an estate due to a poverty-stricken group of heirs. The investigation came when Judge Roberds at first refused to parole two University of Kansas youths whom he sent to jail for six months.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Distance lends enchantment to the view, according to the old law, but it also lends enchantment to the ear. Ordinary music heard at a distance sounds much better than it does next door, and an accordion heard half a mile away on a stilly summer night takes on color and romance and beauty far beyond any it might have in itself.

One of the Western Allegheny section crews was lying over last night on a siding out in the east end of town. One of the men had an accordion and how that brother could fan that collapsible music box.

Along about 10 o'clock he was rolling out melody in gobs and as it floated out across the fields and filtered in through the screens it took one back to the days of Pietro Diero, who as you remember was just a little bit cleverer on one of those instruments than most anybody of his day.

For a long time I've been wondering how tight an automobile could squeeze in between another automobile and a street car on East Washington street. It happened this morning. Just at breakfast time.

A party of tourists from Buffalo was coming into the city from the east line and attempted to pass a street car on the right side, but unfortunately an automobile was parked at the curb. It was like driving a wedge into a stump.

After 15 minutes consultation, advisement and hard work, they got the three vehicles separated, with considerable damage done to the tourists' car and the street car.

Gradually Laurel boulevard is beginning to take on shape and beauty. The concrete on the cartways has been done for some time, but the work of landscaping the grass plots in between is not completed. It is showing some healthy licks and it won't be long until the boulevard will be a beauty spot for the hill.

After all there's something more to living than just four walls and a roof and there's more to a street than just a hard surface for cars to run on. More and more cities are learning that beauty has an important place in its civic scheme.

In other words, landscaping and boulevard plots in a city are the lipstick and mascarra by which cities make themselves attractive to visitors.

POTATO CROPS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 5.—If proper weather conditions aid managers of the farms of State institutions under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Welfare, there will be no shortage of potatoes for the inmates during the coming year. In 17 institutions, 556 acres have been planted with potatoes and the tubers have been fertilized with from 700 to 1000 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, according to a report of R. Bruce Dunlap, agriculturist of the department.
